LATE NEWS

Fear 8 Dead in Train-Truck Crash

NASHVILLE, Tenn.,—(AP)—An unconfirmed report said early today that a Tennessee Central freight train had rammed a truck near Gordonsville, Tenn., and "seven or eight" persons had been killed. Gordonsville is about 60 miles east of Nashville.

At Carthage, Smith County Sheriff J. D. Rollins said all ambulances in town had been sent to the scene, a distance of some seven miles. He said he had not received any report on the nature of the accident.

The original report came from a man who said he was an employe of the railroad, but did not wish use of his name.

Syria to Take Part in Palestine Talks

LAUSANNE, Switzerland—(AP)—Syria has accepted an invitation to take part in Palestine peace talks at Lausanne between the Arab countries and Israel, a spokesman for the United Nations Palestine Conciliation Commission said last night.

Syria's acceptance brings to four the number of Arab nations which will take part in the conference, intended to iron out problems holding up a final Palestine peace. The other three are Egypt, Trans-Jordan and Lebanon.

The Commission met and decided to confer with the Israeli delegation tomorrow. The Commission will meet the Arab delegations later.

Endurance Fliers Forced Down by Clogged Fuel Line

YUMA, Ariz.—(AP)—A clogged gasoline line last night forced Yuma's light plane endurance fliers, Bob Woodhouse and Woodrow Jongward, to land.

They had been in the air for 74 hours, 21 minutes and 40 seconds in their quest for a world's endurance record for light planes.

The aviators were undecided last night as to whether they would make another attempt to better the record already being set by Bill Barris and Dick Riedel, of Fullerton, Cal.

L. P. Cox, Solon's Son, Dies of Heart Ailment

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Lamar Patterson Cox, 46-year-old son of Representative Eugene E. Cox, died unexpectedly last night of a heart ailment.

A lawyer by profession, he had been serving as secretary to his father who represents the Second Georgia District.

Besides his father, Cox is survived by his widow, the former Miss Doris Beatty; a 13-year-old son, Eugene, and two sisters, Mrs. Elliott Dunwoody, of Macon, Ga., and Mrs. Roland B. Anderson, of Lima, Peru.

A native of Camilla, Ga., Cox was educated at the University of Georgia and Mercer University.

Before becoming secretary to his father, who is second ranking member of the House Rules Committee, Cox practiced law at Camilla.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete but burial will be in Georgia.

Georgia Soldier Drowns in S. C.

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—A swimming party ended in death yesterday for Pvt. Robert C. Stringer, of RFD 1, Toccoa, Ga.

He was one of six soldiers of nearby Fort Jackson who were swimming in a lake at the Fort.

Fort officials said Stringer apparently became exhausted and drowned while swimming across the lake.

Shanghai Rail Ties Cut By-Passed;

Undefended Nanking Occupied by Commies; Steel Center Falls

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Communist armies walked into undefended Nanking yesterday and today snapped shut a trap on 300,000 Nationalist soldiers between Shanghai and Hangchow.

Red Troops, rushing southward after their crossing of the Yangtze, by-passed Shanghai and captured Kashing, vital rail junction city, in a slash toward the sea.

At Kashing, 53 miles southwest of this largest Asian city, the Communists cut the last rail escape route for retreating Government troops pulling back on the big seaport of Hangchow, 100 miles southwest of Shanghai.

Kashing is at the junction of the Shanghai-Hangchow railway and the Soochow (Wuhsien)-Kashing railway. Earlier the Reds took Kunshan, 30 miles west of Shanghai, cutting the Nanking-Shaingai railway 30 miles east of Soochow. Another short line links Kashing and Suchow.

Capture of Kashing bore out earlier reports from Associated Press Correspondent Seymour Topping in Nanking, who said the Reds had launched their ambitious entrapment maneuver. He reported more than 30,000 Nationalist troops who fled Nanking Saturday already had been captured on their way to Hangchow. Topping's report presumably came from Red sources.

The Reds were said to have 600,000 men in the gigantic operation.

The only report of Nationalist offensive action was the strafing of Nanking's inner airfield yesterday by three Government planes. The Reds said the planes overshot their mark and machine-gunned streets in the capital, wounding several civilians.

More than 600 miles northwest of Nanking, the Reds took by storm the isolated Government arsenal city of Taiyuan, "Pittsburgh of China," now a smouldering ruin. Topping reported that by Sunday night 20,000 Communist soldiers had quietly spread all over Nanking, which sighed with relief that the changeover had been reasonably safe.

Communist vanguards were reported to have reached Kunshan village, less than 30 miles west of Shanghai, by nightfall. Government troop trains were moving to that point. All other rail traffic westward was halted.

Government commanders reiterated that they will defend Shanghai to the last.

Most residents were trying desperately to save their property from looters.

Some looting already was reported from outlying districts of this greatest Asiatic city of more than 5,000,000 population.

The streets were jammed all Sunday with trucks, cars, rickshaws, pedicabs and porters mov-

FBI Fails To Identify Fatal Bullet

Step-Brother Of Parolee Held In South Carolina

By HOWELL JONES

The only tangible clue Atlanta police had to aid them in their search for the killer of Metropolitan Opera Tenor John Garris apparently was ruled out yesterday.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington virtually eliminated a battered bullet taken from the slain singer's spine as a clue in the baffling case when it refused to say the bullet was fired from a gun taken from a paroled convict under arrest at Clinton, S. C.

In a report to Atlanta Chief of Police Herbert T. Jenkins, the FBI said it was not possible to reach a conclusion as to whether or not the fatal bullet was fired in the pistol submitted for tests.

In view of the report, Chief Jenkins last night said results of the test "definitely rule ballistics out as a source of evidence in this case." Jenkins said also that because of the battered condition of the slug and the admitted possibility that "changes" could have taken place in the weapon's barrel it was not likely the ballistics tests would be conclusive in future investigation.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI, told Chief Jenkins comparison of the fatal bullet with test specimens fired from a Belgian automatic found in the ex-convict's car disclosed a slight difference in rifling impressions.

Hoover's report said also "in comparison of microscopic markings on bullets nothing was found to indicate the fatal bullet was fired in the submitted pistol."

In contrast, however, the report revealed that due to the fact the fatal bullet was deformed, the difference between it and the test specimens were insufficient to conclude that the bullet was not fired in the pistol.

Summing up the report, Hoover said if the fatal bullet was fired from the submitted pistol, radical changes in the barrel of the weapon must have occurred between the time the fatal bullet was fired and the time the test specimens were fired.

The FBI chief said that because of the possibility that such changes could have taken place,

GARRIS MEMORIAL SERVICE—Memorial services for John Garris, who was killed in Atlanta Thursday, were held yesterday by the touring Metropolitan Opera Company in Fair Park Auditorium in Dallas, Texas. Dr. Paul B. Frank was in charge of the services. At his right is Edward Johnson, General Manager of the company. The services were attended by members of the Met's traveling company. The company left by train for Los Angeles last night after a three-day stand in Dallas. Johnson termed the loss of Garris as "irreparable."

One Killed, 12 Hurt in State Traffic

An out-of-State carnival workman was killed and 12 Georgians injured, one critically, on Georgia highways over the weekend.

The carnival worker was identified as John Blann, 52, of an undisclosed address. He died yesterday afternoon of a broken neck suffered when his truck dropped over a 54-foot embankment at the Savannah River Bridge on Highway 54. Three other unidentified workers were seriously injured.

According to State patrolmen, Blann was driving one truck which was towing a second on the highway between Elberton and Calhoun Falls, S. C. Descending a hill at the river bridge, the second truck broke the tow and rammed the first. This threw both vehicles over the embankment.

A head-on collision between two cars Saturday night at the intersection of Highways 160 and 54, near Conley, brought six persons to Grady emergency clinic with injuries.

Admitted in critical condition was Cecil Frank Miller, 19, of Lakewood Heights, who suffered lacerations and possible internal injuries. Also in the same car and treated for injuries were Sterlyn H. Denny, 16, of 2030 Lakewood Ave., S. E., fractured knee; Herschel E. Gibbs, 17, 425 Hopkins St., S. W., both legs fractured; Edward L. Milliken, 19, 1128 Oak Knoll Ter., S. E., lacerations, and Henderson Rainwater, minor injuries.

The occupant of the second car, Samuel P. Mitchell, 51, of Forrest Road, was also treated for injuries. State Patrolman L. E. Floyd, who investigated the collision, said both cars were demol-

Farmer Dies In Fire After Killing Two

ABILENE, Kas.—(AP)—An elderly farmer went berserk early yesterday and fatally shot a sheriff and his deputy, and died himself in the flames that consumed his house, County Attorney John Rugh reported.

Rugh said the farmer also shot and wounded his housekeeper, his brother-in-law and a neighbor. The three are in a hospital in "fair condition."

According to the county attorney, Charles K. Rush, about 65, shot and killed Dickinson County Sheriff E. F. Davis, 38, and his deputy, who was also the sheriff's brother, Milton L. Davis, 58.

Rugh said the bodies of the two men were badly burned and it was not possible to determine whether Rush was wounded in an exchange of gunfire before the flames reached him. His body was found in a rear bedroom, while those of the peace officers were found at two side doors.

Rugh reconstructed the incident as follows:

About 6:00 a. m. Rush went berserk. He shot his housekeeper, Mrs. Mae Pettriess, about 65, and his brother-in-law, Mervin Franks, who also lives in the house. The housekeeper shot in the abdomen, and Franks, wounded in the face, ran from the house.

Rush went outside and poured gasoline around the base of his eight-room, two-story house and set it afire. Another neighbor, Fred Yuhl, 30, also attracted by the flames, was shot and wounded by the crazed farmer.

The sheriff and his brother, summoned by the housekeeper, were fatally shot as they approached separate doors of the house.

Rugh said it is assumed that Rush was wounded in an exchange of gunfire.

A coroner's inquest was called for today.

Amputee Fatally Shot; Neighbor Is Arrested

A World War II veteran, whose right leg previously had been amputated, died at 1:45 a. m. yesterday in Grady Hospital after having been shot Saturday night in the left thigh, Fulton County police reported.

Investigating Officers C. L. Hughes and M. L. Williams identified the victim as T. C. Davis, 24, of 145 Johnson Rd., N. W..

The officers said they had arrested H. D. Moody, of 126 Johnson Rd., N. W., for having allegedly shot Davis with a 12-gauge shotgun. Moody is being held in Fulton Tower on a charge of murder, Hughes and Williams said.

Mr. Davis was found unconscious in the street near his home shortly before midnight Saturday, according to the police report. Prior to being shot, he had gone across the street to Moody's home, where an argument ensued, followed by the shooting, the policemen stated.

Carried to the emergency clinic at Grady, Mr. Davis died shortly after being admitted, hospital records show.

Davis' body was taken to J. Allen Couch & Sons funeral home, where it is being held pending funeral arrangements.

Mr. Davis is survived by his wife; a daughter, Miss Joan Davis; his father, Eugene Davis, of Calhoun Falls, S. C.; a sister, Miss Irene Davis, of Charleston, S. C.; four brothers, Clifton, Tommy, Clarence and Malvin Davis, all of Calhoun Falls, S. C.

Search Spreads To Washington For Gem Thief

Washington police yesterday joined Atlanta police in the search for an attractive young woman who was reported to have boarded a plane for the nation's capital with a tray of diamonds valued at $21,000 which was snatched from a downtown jewelry store Saturday.

Police here radioed Washington police to check all planes landing there during the day in an effort to nab the woman when she arrived.

The woman is one of two expensively dressed women who were seen in the Myron E. Freeman Jewelry Store at 103 Peachtree St., N. E., shortly before a tray containing 23 platinum and white gold rings with stones ranging in size from three-fourths carat to two carats were reported missing.

4 Soldiers Killed, 5 Hurt in Truck Crash

YAKIMA, Wash.—(UP)—Four soldiers were killed and five were injured, two seriously, when their Army truck overturned on an artillery range near here yesterday, Army authorities revealed last night.

Officials said names of the victims were being withheld until families were notified.

Textile Industry Moving South Means Added Wealth for Georgia

By RALPH McGILL

Bound up in this short Associated Press story from Fall River, Mass., is a dramatic story for Georgia.

FALL RIVER, Mass. — (AP)— A spokesman for the Pepperell Manufacturing Company said its entire Fall River plant, once one of the leading cotton factories in New England, would be operating on rayon by mid-July.

"The mill's cotton machinery is being shipped South," the spokesman said.

"Ninety percent of the necessary rayon machinery already has been received," the Company said, "and the conversion will be completed within three months."

Lindale has been manufacturing the higher quality chambray for work shirts and associated fabrics. This new development means not merely an expansion of the plant, possibly doubling its size, but it will bring additional production of finer type fabrics.

No announcement has been made but possibilities are dress shirtings, fine goods, percale sheetings, and so on. All this means "added wealth" for the Georgia production.

There is no great flight from New England, but there is a steady one in both cotton and woolen textiles.

So gradual has been the movement that Georgians are hardly aware of the fact that four worsted and woolen mills have recently been established in the State of Georgia and that the Clark Thread Mill has six plants in the State. The movement of the Textron Company into North Georgia also is a part of the picture, with plants established at Royston and Hartwell. The four woolen mills are at Dublin, Milledgeville, Macon and Cedartown.

Louisiana, South Carolina and Texas also fit into the movement of the worsted and woolen industry into the South.

Current, and well substantiated, is the report that one of the largest New England textile mills has about concluded arrangements to move into South Georgia. Announcement is expected within the near future.

The entire industry is shaking down. Many of the plants which close in New England will not move machinery. The machinery is obsolete. New developments in textile machinery and the policy of the industry to run three shifts when orders make it possible, have enabled the industry to increase production. Obsolete machinery can no longer compete any more than the farmer with the one-mule wagon and plow can compete with tractors. There will be "failures" in the textile industry but they will not be significant and will not be harmful except as they create painful unemployment in the communities where such inefficiency does require closing down mills.

Shift of the famous Fall River mills to rayon is not without significance to Georgia and the South. Rayon currently is cheaper than cotton. Also, there is no waste in weaving rayon. There is

Farmer Chasing Goat Falls to His Death

SPENCER, Tenn. — (AP) — A father of eight children was fatally injured near here yesterday when he fell over a 50-foot cliff while chasing a goat.

Police Chief Claude Baker identified him as Willie Madewell, 35, Spencer farmer. He said Madewell apparently lost his footing in some loose gravel while running down the highway.

The farmer died two hours later after six men worked their way along a precarious ledge to recover his broken body.

Ex-Gov. Rivers Mentioned For Latin Embassy Post

Former Gov. Rivers is being considered for appointment as United States Ambassador to a South American country, The Constitution learned last night.

Rivers, former Democratic National Committeeman from Georgia and long an administration stalwart, recently conferred with President Truman but described the visit merely as one in which he called to "pay respects" to the President.

Lending support to the strong possibility of Rivers' receiving the appointment is the fact that the Administration has appointed no Georgians to top jobs since the November election, when Georgia voted for Mr. Truman and the Democratic ticket in face of bids from the Dixiecrats.

Rivers is the second Georgian whose name during the weekend was linked with prospective high-ranking Government jobs. Mayor Hartsfield, of Atlanta, is looming as the probable next Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aviation.

Dr. Bunche Considered As Acheson Aide

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations mediator for Palestine, was reported under consideration yesterday for nomination as Assistant Secretary of State.

Informed officials said he is a likely choice as one of four new aides to Secretary of State Acheson, whom Congress has been asked to authorize.

Bunche is regarded as well qualified for the post of assistant secretary for Near Eastern and African affairs, or assistant for United Nations affairs. Officials said selections for all the prospective new posts were still open and it is not known whether Bunche has yet been approached.

Senate confirmation of his nomination would give Bunche one of the highest Government posts ever attained by a Negro.

GOP Charts 'Grass Roots' Recoup Rallies

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Top Republican strategists issued a call yesterday for a series of "grass roots and brass tacks" regional conferences aimed at recapturing control of Congress in the 1950 elections.

The GOP Policy Organization Committee decided that the top-level conferences should be held throughout 1949, starting with an agricultural forum to be held "somewhere in the Midwest."

Members of the policy group agreed that an industry and taxation conference must be held in New England and that it probably is advisable to call a natural resources and conservation conference in California.

In addition, the Committee recommended that all State committees of the GOP hold conferences of all Republican voters in every Congressional District.

Lindbergh Wins Congress By Air Survey

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A congressional move is under way to honor Charles A. Lindbergh for important air force assignments he has been carrying out in deep secrecy.

Lindbergh's most recent job was a "hush hush" survey of possible overseas bases from which U. S. bombers could be launched to strike back at an aggressor.

During the mission, completed a few weeks ago, the famed "Lone Eagle" visited Alaska, Japan, the Philippines, Singapore, India and other areas.

His report and recommendations were submitted to Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air chief of staff, for whom Lindbergh has been working directly.

Several congressmen reportedly are considering a resolution commending the slim areonautical wizard who spanned the Atlantic alone and non-stop 22 years ago in the tiny "Spirit of St. Louis."

Sen. Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, declared: "Charles Lindbergh has rendered wonderful service to the defense of his country for which we are very grateful."

Vandenberg and his top staff officers consider it imperative the U. S. either control or be able to move immediately into advance bases, if war comes.

UAW Calls Walkout at Packard

DETROIT — (UP) — The United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO) called a surprise strike at the Packard Motor Car Company last night, halting production of special Gold Model automobiles named to mark Packard's golden jubilee.

The strike began when UAW Local 190 ordered the night shift to stay away from the Packard plant.

The work stoppage followed a strike vote by the Packard workers at a special membership meeting held yesterday.

Local President Ralph Urban said more than 97 percent of the union members voted to authorize strike action.

"This is our answer to Packard's golden jubilee," Urban said.

The Company was in the process of producing 2,000 Gold Models for exhibition in sales rooms throughout the country during Packard's fiftieth anniversary celebration.

Some 2,000 dealers were to meet in Detroit next week and drive the Gold Model back to their sales rooms.

about 15 to 20 percent waste in cotton. A bale of one-inch cotton will contain about 15 to 20 percent fibers less than one inch and they will be combed out. There is a sale of these fibers as waste, but there remains a margin of loss.

The Fall River announcement certainly must be associated with the recent announcement by the Bureau of Census that for the first eight months of the "cotton year," domestic consumption of cotton is down 746,000 bales. Only the Marshall Plan has saved the cotton farmer and the taxpayer, who is behind the support price, a considerable amount of money. The fact that cotton is being planted on a huge scale in what is regarded as the last "uncontrolled" year, must be kept in mind. Fortunately, the world carry-over is so small there is no need to cry "havoc." We should ride out this next cotton year without serious trouble. But, by the cotton year of 1950-51 the news from Fall River will be felt.

The woolen and worsted industry is coming South for two reasons. Almost all our wool comes through the port of New Orleans or the rail center there. It comes from South America by ship and from our western ranges by rail. Formerly all of it went to New England to be scoured and fabricated. Now, scouring plants are being built in Texas and Louisiana. The work load in New England, where workers refused to produce more on new and more efficient machinery than on the old and obsolete machinery, is another reason. The Southern worker likes to have a job and to have paydays and he takes a pride in his product. That helps.

The part played by the mills at Newnan should not be overlooked. There was developed what first was called "The Newnan System" and which now is named "The American System." It is a method of weaving worsteds which is more efficient than the old British or French systems.

At any rate, while there is not going to be any great dramatic movement to the South, there is going to be a steady one in which new machines will be installed and the American system will make of the South the dominant textile region of the world, a place New England once held. It is time we made our politics and our thinking match the industrial opportunity that is approaching.

ished and charges are being withheld pending the outcome of some of the injured.

In a third accident Sunday afternoon on the Marietta highway near Chattahoochee, a truck and passenger car were involved in a collision which injured five persons.

Clarence Eugene Stell, six, of Route 1, Woodstock, was admitted to Grady Hospital in fair condition from injuries suffered in this wreck. The boy was riding in a half-ton truck with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hester and Mrs. Mandy Bates, all of Route 1, Woodstock, who were treated for lacerations and bruises at the emergency clinic.

According to Fulton County Officers Vernon West and W. J. Helms, the truck was struck as it started across the four-lane highway at Moores Mill Road by a car driven by Melvin James Childers, of Murphy, N. C. The impact slid the truck 40 feet before it was overturned, the officers stated. Childers was shaken up, the officers stated.

Noah H. Hendricks, of 237 Winter Ave., N. E., Atlanta, was treated Saturday night at Grady Emergency Clinic for injuries to the head and chest suffered when his car failed to make a turn on Highland Avenue.

According to city patrolmen, Hendricks was going east on Highland and hit a utility pole when he failed to make a turn. The car traveled 22 feet and slammed into a second pole, coming to rest after hitting a signboard. Hendricks is identified by police as assistant manager for the Piedmont Hotel.

it would be impossible to determine definitely if the death slug was fired from the weapon. Hoover said all test bullets fired for the comparison were readily identified with each other.

What action police will take in regard to the further questioning of Grover Tojo Pulley, 44, alias James Carlisle Perkins who was arrested Friday in Clinton, S. C., could not be determined until Lt. M. M. Coppenger returned from Washington.

At Clinton, police announced they are holding Wilbert Woolard, 23, of Stanley, N. C., stepbrother of Pulley, for investigation. His name was found on the pistol subjected to FBI tests.

Woolard was taken to Laurens, the county seat, so he would be unable to communicate with Pulley.

Lt. Coppenger, accompanied by Dr. Herman Jones, head of the Fulton County Crime Laboratory, were reported to have left Washington shortly after noon yesterday en route to Atlanta. Late last night the two officers had not returned to the city, causing speculation that they may have stopped at Clinton to question Pulley in connection with the fatal shooting of Garris.

The report which came as a surprise to local police was a definite setback to the intensive investigation that has gone on without let up since the handsome singer's body was found in a rain-soaked alley off Thurmond Street early Thursday morning.

Earlier police here had expressed confidence that final ballistics tests would link the paroled convict.

Tests of bullets taken from the .38-caliber Belgian automatic reportedly found in the car Pulley was driving when he was arrested by Clinton police Friday night were taken to Washington early yesterday by Dr. Jones and Det. Lt. Coppenger.

Jones spent four hours Saturday peering through his own comparison microscope in an attempt to match every mark of the pistol barrel.

The case against Pulley, who was paroled in 1947 while serving a long term for killing a policeman in Bethel, N. C., hinged almost entirely on the bullet.

Pulley was arrested in the South Carolina city only a few hours after Garris' body was found in the alley early Thursday. The ex-convict was not questioned about the Garris case, it was reported, but twice Jones and Coppenger made secret trips to Clinton to examine Pulley's alleged arsenal.

The auto in which Pulley was riding was described as a "souped up" coupe equipped with twin carburetors and racing head. In the car police found an assortment of burglary tools, a sawed-off shotgun and the pistol.

Refugees swarmed out of Shanghai, but others hiked in, hoping for greater security in the business district.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, the "retired" Nationalist President, left Shanghai Sunday morning for the southern port of Amoy in a warship. (Presumably a Chinese warship, though not so identified.)

Acting Pres. Li Tsung-Jen was in the southern city of Kweilin, but planned soon to go to the provisional capital at Canton, where Premier Ho Ying-Chin arrived Sunday afternoon.

Shopping for you is my job, and lots of fun, too! I've snooped with Santa Claus and listened in over the Easter Bunny's shoulder. I do a lot of snooping and that's why I have a good idea what Junior wants for his birthday . . . and the silver and china patterns of many a June bride.

Right now I'm thinking about Mother's Day, and with this sweet thought in mind, I found a precious something . . . soft, soft maize rayon jersey strapless gown, all trilled with white net and lace, and the very newest in stoles that ties around and becomes a most feminine bed-jacket! Her size, 32 to 36. Gown, 6.95. Stole, 2.95. (Lingerie, Street Floor.)

And if you want to make her clap her hands . . . some pretty polka dot gloves, so new this Spring! I couldn't resist them in red, navy, grey washable cotton by Kayser. 2.50. (Street Floor.)

And while I was on the Street Floor, I followed my nose to the perfume department . . . and here's a Humpty-Dumpty that won't fall! He's full of Elizabeth Arden's "My Love" perfume, and that's a mighty sweet way to say it, don't you think? 5.00 plus tax.

Tuck this in her purse and she'll thank you many times over! It's a Silent Butler that's just so big and so handy when an ashtray's out of reach. She'll be proud to show it off in the bright gold or silver finish. 4.98 plus tax. (Jewelry, Street Floor.)

Want to be sure your picture is on her dresser? Then buy her this clever little frame I found on the Fourth Floor in our Gift Department. It's made by Virginia Metalcrafters in round or square shapes with a lovely antique gold finish. Only 4.50.

'Terror Here,' American Tells Paris Congress

PARIS—(AP)—Howard Fast, American writer, told a huge outdoor rally of partisans of the Communist-sponsored World Peace Congress yesterday that a reign of "terror is only beginning" in America.

"Every voice raised against war is denounced by the Truman Government as an act of treason," he said. "Already the prisons are filled with political prisoners."

Fast spoke at a gathering of about 25,000 adherents of the Congress, many of whom came in caravans from all parts of France, in Buffalo Stadium on the outskirts of Paris. The rally was part of the six-day Congress which closes today.

He was given tumultuous applause when he told the crowd the American people were the victims of "the most evil, most hideous deception of all time."

End-Blockade Huddle Goes On Off-Stage

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Responsible diplomatic authorities reported yesterday that American and Soviet officials are still conducting off-stage talks on the Berlin blockade without agreement thus far on positive measures to break the long deadlock.

There was no confirmation in the Capital of broadcast reports that Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman have agreed to an early meeting on the issue with Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky.

The possibility of such a Big Four meeting was not ruled out but the best available information here was that it has not yet been agreed to. Officials declared the situation remained unchanged from the stage of informal talks initiated cautiously by the Russians within the last two weeks.

These have been carried recently in New York principally between Philip Jessup, American delegate to the United Nations and Jacob Malik, of the Soviet delegation. Jessup is understood to have reported personally to Acheson on what has taken place thus far when he came to Washington on Friday.

Machinery Exposition Leaders Feted

Officers and Directors of the Southern Machinery and Metals Exposition, which starts today at the Municipal Auditorium, gave a reception last night at the Atlanta Athletic Club for exhibitors and their wives. The guests came from all parts of the United States.

The Exposition, the fourth of its kind to be held here, will have more than 50 exhibitions in machinery, metals and allied lines. Some of these exhibits will display new machinery just put on the market by some of the manufacturers.

Out-of-town visitors to the Exposition include: A. J. Kroze, Chicago; D. W. Garrett, J. J. Dorr, and Marcel Lock, New York City; Harold J. Molloy, Knoxville, Tenn.; Harry Blackburn, Cincinnati; W. W. Austin, Jr., Birmingham, Ala.; L. H. Flaherty, South Haven, Mich.; H. S. Thompson, oYungstown, O.; D. R. Curtis and Ross S. Peterson, Chicago; Paul Youngstown, O.; D. R. Curtis and Schroder, Detroit; O. L. Livingston, Philadelphia; N. M. Dickson, Suffern, N. Y.; and B. Waldring, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Cochran Field Now Property Of Macon

Nathaniel Macon, the city's namesake, had a personal representative on hand yesterday to see that the new Macon airport was properly chaperoned into the city's custody.

While Mayor Louis B. Wilson dedicated war-famous Cochran Field as the newest property of the City of Macon, Navy Lt. E. R. "Randy" Macon, grand-nephew of the man Macon is named for, looked on from the air as he led his group of attack planes through a big air show.

Atlanta Naval Air Station, where Lt. Macon's squadron is located, sent 40 planes to the Macon dedication. Other Navy squadrons from Jacksonville, Fla., and Birmingham, Ala., participated in the ceremonies.

The entire Navy flight was led by Lt. Cmdr. Frank McAfee, a native of Macon, who is Flight Training Officer at the Atlanta Naval Air Station.

Police Rescue British Communist Leader As Enraged Mob Breaks Up Red Rally

PLYMOUTH, Eng. — (AP) — Police spirited Communist Leader Harry Pollitt out of an auditorium last night after he was besieged almost four hours by an angry crowd of nearly 3,000 anti-Communists.

The howling chair-throwing anti-Communists had chased Pollitt from a speaking platform and laid siege to the building. He sought refuge in an upstairs room.

The police said they took him out through a basement window opening on an alley behind the building.

Joined by sailors in uniform, the crowd had attempted to batter down a human barrier of policemen in front of the auditorium. They had succeeded in breaking up a Communist poltical meeting inside.

In a repetition of violence that Pollitt encountered Friday night and early Saturday in Dartmouth, the crowd hurled chairs, stones, tomatoes and eggs. Several windows in the building were smashed by stones. Police Inspector John Lindsay was struck by a piece of debris and knocked unconscious.

Pollitt said he was going to Cornwall for "a rest." Police said Pollitt told them: "Thank you very much. I am sorry I caused you all this trouble."

About 100 sailors broke down the massive doors of the ancient Corn Exchange Building, which was the public auditorium used for the scheduled meeting.

They forced their way up a flight of stairs and stormed into the meeting which Pollitt was addressing. Pollitt, Secretary-General of the British Communist Party, tried in vain to continue above the din.

Sailors and about 150 others rushed the platform when Pollitt tried to speak on the subject of the Yangtze shelling of British warships. Three of the four British ships shelled by Chinese Communists are registered in Plymouth Harbor and many of the crewmen are from this city.

As in the meeting at Dartmouth, the storm broke when Pollitt referred to the Communist shelling of the British ships.

Cries of "Rubbish!" interrupted Pollitt when he said there wasn't enough evidence to enable people to give balanced judgment on the "tragic happenings of the last few days."

"When my Scalp was Hairy, I was Twice as Merry" says Old King Cole (himself)

Old King Cole, that merry soul,
One day was not so merry.
Though in his youth, the fable tells,
His head was richly hairy,
As time had passed, he had ignored
The First Bald Man's advice:
"Stop fiddling with your dandruff, sir,
Or you shall pay the price."
Well, Cole was merry 'til The Day
When he was very sad;
He saw that while he fiddled,
He had lost each hair he had.

During the past 26 years a half-million other persons quit fiddling with cure-alls and let skilled Thomas specialists end their dandruff, check falling hair, and promote normal hair growth. Come in today for a free scalp examination—see exactly how this reliable, proved treatment can help you save your hair, prevent baldness.

Olympia Proved Self In Wood Memorial

Hanging the Monday wash out to dry:

The question before the house now is whether Olympia's Kentucky Derby stock rose or dropped a point or two in his Wood Memorial victory last Saturday.

Fred Hooper's colt, the heavy choice in the Run for the Roses, was hard-pressed to hold off the lightly regarded Palestinian in the 1 1-16th-mile test. In fact, one wire service story quoted Jockey Headley Woodhouse, aboard Palestinian, as saying his horse would have won if he had not stumbled upon overtaking Olympia in the stretch drive.

But, regardless, you cannot ignore the fact that Olympia's number went up as the winner, as that is what counts.

Personally, I would say the Hooper ace proved his right to the Derby favorite's role in the Wood. His time, 1:45, was good considering the condition of the track. He carried 126 pounds for the first time and he proved himself no quitter when Palestinian looked him in the eye.

So far, he has done everything asked of him, except beat Old Rockport in the Santa Anita Derby, but after all, even Citation was beaten once.

Busy Crackers The Crackers are finding themselves the center of attraction off the field as well as on these days.

After being honored with a steak luncheon Saturday at Rich's, the boys were guests of Dr. Louie D. Newton and the Druid Hills Baptist Church at Sunday services.

It was the fifteenth consecutive year that the team has been so honored by Dr. Newton and the members of his church.

The players were introduced by Manager Cliff Dapper, who paused when he came to Gene Verble and said: "Gene goes to church every Sunday. The rest of us might get on the umpires pretty hard, but all Gene ever says when one goes against him is 'Aw, shucks!'"

Dr. Newton proved himself a real baseball fan when he stopped during his sermon and asked:

"I almost forgot. Are there any umpires in the congregation? They really should come to church."

The ball players got a big kick out of that one.

Barnes Keeps Plugging Tommy Barnes has won another golf tournament, which comes as a surprise to exactly nobody.

It was the Dogwood out at Druid Hills this time and in winning, Barnes defeated a strong field of the South's best amateurs.

Tommy has one big ambition in the golf world. He wants to play in at least one Masters' tournament at Augusta. Somehow, the opportunity has eluded him down through the years of his successes.

About the only way for an amateur to qualify for the select field is to be a quarter-finalist in the National Amateur and Tom has just missed on several occasions.

But he'll be trying again and everybody will be hoping he makes it.

Admirable Attitude You know, you've got to take your hat off to a guy like Red Hollis.

Red was the Crackers' regular second baseman last year. He reported to Spring training full of fight and spirit and engaged Davey Williams in a terrific struggle for the job this season.

But he lost out as a regular. Chances are that he would have been retained on the list as utility infielder. But Red wanted to play. Consequently, he asked to be sent to Pensacola.

Such spirit is admirable. Here was a kid who could live in the comparative luxury of AA baseball, but with little activity and chance to learn. Or he could go to a B league, ride the busses and fight rough playing fields. But there he could play and get experience.

He selected the latter, a decision as wise as it is admirable.

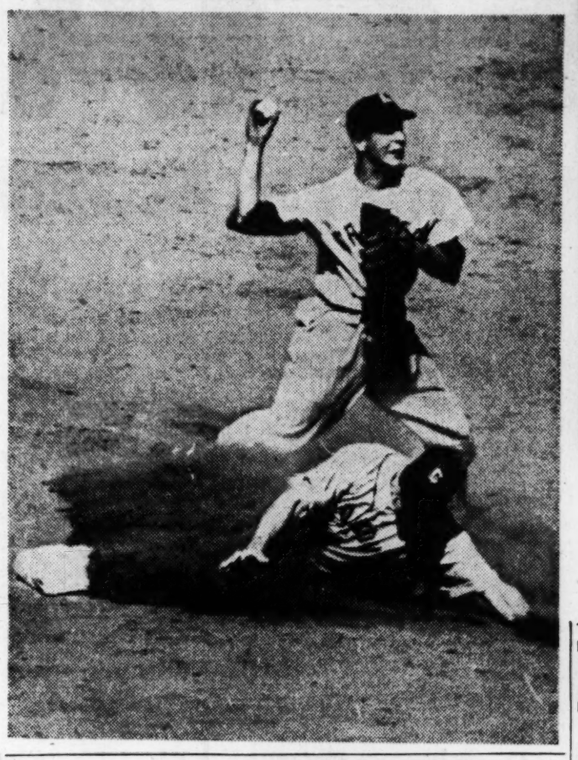
Chattanooga Drops Games 5-4 and 4-0

By F. M. WILLIAMS

After Dick Hoover had pitched and batted the Crackers' to a 5-4 victory in the first game, Carl Lindquist came back with a 4-0 shutout in the seven-inning nightcap to give Manager Cliff Dapper's club a clean sweep of a doubleheader with the Chattanooga Lookouts yesterday at Ponce de Leon Park. A crowd of 12,742 turned out to see the twin triumph.



Lloyd Gearhart, Cracker left fielder, suffered a badly cut tongue in the fifth inning of the second game of yesterday's twin bill, and Trainer Dick Niehaus reported that three stitches were taken in the tongue last night. Lloyd collided with Lookout Shortstop Willie Miranda when he was forced by Ralph Brown. He broke up the double play and allowed a run to score.

Hoover, who shut out the Birmingham Barons a week ago on three hits, was hard pressed to rack up his second win against no losses, but, thanks to a three-run double he hit in the fourth and a Chattanooga error that let in the last run in the seventh, he made the grade.

On the other hand, Lindquist was a master on the mound until the seventh inning, when he gave up a single and two walks, the last one of which came with two outs, to load the bases. He got out of the jam by swishing a third strike past pinch-hitter George Myatt, the Lookout manager. It was the one and only scoring threat Chattanooga made.

The Crackers got away to a one-run lead in the first inning at the expense of Stanley Coulling, a good looking right-hander. With one out, Lloyd Gearhart singled and moved to second on a wild throw to first by Catcher Jake Early, who attempted a pickoff play. Al Flair lined a single to center to drive him home.

The score stood just that way until the fifth, when the Crackers got two men home without a hit. After Gene Verble flied to center, Pierce McWhorter walked. Lindquist bunted and was safe when Coulling threw high to first base and then Dave Williams walked. Gearhart was hit by a pitched ball, forcing McWhorter home. Lindquist scored as Ralph Brown grounded into a force out.

Chet Hajduk's single and theft of second followed by Verble's single got the last Cracker run in the sixth and sent Coulling to the showers. "Swoosh" Zukowski finished up.

Hoover, touched for 12 hits, was in bad trouble twice, once in the sixth inning when an error cost him a tally and again in the seventh when three doubles put two Lookouts home and knotted the count.

The Crackers had to accept an unearned run in the seventh to win.

Chattanooga got away to a lead when Bob Reid and Andy Fleitas doubled in the second inning, but Larry Drake, back in the lineup for the first time since the second game of the season, tied it up with a home run in the Cracker half of the same frame.

A single by Al Flair, walks to Drake and Gene Verble and Hoover's three-run double to right center shoved the Crackers well out front in the fourth.

Chattanooga kept pecking away. Drake dropped Charlie Letchas' fly in right to start the sixth and the Lookouts got three singles in the inning to push over one run and leave the bases full.

Doubles by Willie Miranda, Letchas and "Babe" Ellis tied the count in the seventh.

Dave Williams drew a walk in the Cracker half of the inning and was promptly bunted to second by Lloyd Gearhart. Ralph Brown, whose consecutive game hitting streak was stopped by the three hurlers Manager George Myatt used, advanced Davey to third on a slow roller to first. Reid fielded Flair's tricky grounder but Woody Johnson, who came over from the mound to cover, dropped his perfect throw to the bag and Flair was safe on the error. Williams, of course, trotted across the plate with ease.

Eric Felton, who replaced starter "Buz" Dozier in the fifth, was the losing pitcher.

The Crackers have an off day today but will continue the season Tuesday night at 8:15 against the Nashville Vols. Bill Kennedy will hurl the first game of that series, Dapper announced.

SHORT NOTES — Manager Dapper shuffled his lineup considerably for the first game, sending Hajduk to third, Drake to right and putting Gearhart in the second hitting spot . . . it paid off quickly . . Hajduk made a backhanded pickup of Letchas' grounder in the first, and although off balance, got off a perfect throw to the plate to nip Wooten, who was on third as the result of an error by Verble.

Joe Engel walked into the press box just as Larry Drake, whom Joe sold to the Crackers' in the Winter hit his first home run of the year in the second inning . . . For once Engel had nothing to say . . . Joe wanted to go on the loud speaker and ask the fans what happened Saturday night but Earl Mann knew better . . . the first game was held up several times when a strong wind blowing in from left field created clouds of dust . . . the field was wetted down between tilts.

The Lookouts put up a loud squawk when Williams' attempted bunt in the seventh inning of the first game was called foul. . . . They thought it hit Davey in fair territory, which could have made him automatically out. . . . He eventually walked and scored the winning run.

Until Lindquist walked Reid and Early in the last inning of the second game, not a single pass had been issued by either Cracker pitcher.

Although Brown went hitless in the two games, he stole another base in the second tilt to run his total for the season to five.

Barnes' 282 Wins Dogwood Meet

By BERT PRATHER

Tommy Barnes, one of the most popular guys in Southern golfing circles and just about the best player, too, carted some more silver home to Mrs. Barnes and the youngsters last night. This time it was the "spoils" from the fifth annual Druid Hills Dogwood invitational tournament.

Playing his usual steady game, the most famous of the golfing Barneses posted a 72-hole total of 282 to capture his second straight Dogwood crown in pretty much of a cake walk. Second, a big nine strokes back, was Southern Intercollegiate champion Al Besselink, from the University of Miami. Big Al's 291 was three better than third place Hobart Manley, Jr., of Savannah, and six below Macon's Arnold Blum, who checked in fourth with a 297. Medalist Gene Gaillard, who along with Barnes and Blum was a pre-tournament favorite, continued to have his troubles and wound up with a 10 over par 298. Gaillard's qualifying score was a neat 67, but except for the first round of play, when he trailed Barnes by only one stroke, Gene had rough going.

Barnes on the other hand was above par on only one of his four rounds. He skidded to a 74 yesterday morning, but recovered nicely with a two under 70 on the final tour.

Barnes' card showed one eagle, 14 birdies and 10 bogies. The par five eighteenth was Tommy's favorite hole. He birdied it on each of his four rounds. Dan Sage, Jr., who finished in the B division of the championship, went Tommy one better, however. He eagled it on the final round.

Barnes was out in front all the way, but could not match his winning total of 281 of last year. He also missed Gene Dahlbender's Dogwood record by four strokes.

One of the most unusual rounds of the meet was Arnold Blum's morning round yesterday. He started off 4-4-4, and then, after a three and a five, Arnold carded 13 straight fours.

Bob Jones, III, the City Amateur king, like Gaillard, had his troubles on the final two rounds, finishing with a total of 313 for ninth place.

Brissie Wins Again for A's; Yanks Rally to Beat Bosox

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK—(UP)—Lefty Lou Brissie, the gallant guy who was left for dead on a European battlefield, pitched his second straight victory of the season yesterday as the sizzling Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Washington Senators on four hits, 8-3.

The triumph gave Philadelphia a sweep of the three-game series and marked Washington's sixth straight defeat. The Nationals haven't won a game since they beat Philadelphia on opening day last Monday.

The A's were led to victory in their 12-hit assault on three pitchers by Hank Majeski who hit a homer and two singles and drove in three runs. Brissie, who beat the Red Sox in his opening start, struck out six.

The Yankees also stayed on a rampage, making it two out of three from the Red Sox in Boston by coming from behind with a six run eighth inning for a 9-4 victory. Gene Woodling climaxed the winning inning by hitting a three-run homer. Ed Lopat, settling down after early unsteadiness, got credit for his second victory.

The White Sox, practically everybody's "best bet" to finish last in the American league, stretched their early season winning streak to five games, longest of the campaign, when they topped the Browns, 2-1 and 4-0. In the opener Shortstop Eddie Pellagrini's wild throw enabled the Sox to put over two unearned runs in the ninth, giving relief Pitcher Matt Surkont his first victory. Randy Gumpert held the Browns to three hits to win the nightcap.

The Giants won their second straight game from the Braves at New York, 6-2, scoring all of their runs in the first two innings, three of them on a homer by Bobby Thomson. An error by Pitcher Vern Bickford in the second opened the gates for three unearned runs after which Bob Hogue pitched scoreless ball the rest of the way. Sheldon Jones scattered seven Brave hits to win his first game of the season.

The Reds and Pirates divided a double-header in Pittsburgh, Cincinnati taking the opener, 3-2, in 10 innings when Rookie Charley Kress singled home the winning run. Earlier, another Red rookie, Lloyd Merriman, hit his first major league homer to break a 1-all tie, after which Ralph Kiner homered to tie it at 2-all for Pittsburgh, Harry Gumbert, who relieved Starr Herman Wehmeier, was credited with the victory. Pittsburght took the second game, 3-1, as Lefty Cliff Chambers went the distance and gave up six hits to score his first victory for the Pirates. He was with the Cubs last season. Rookie Ed Bockman blasted two homers, one with a mate abase, to account for all of Pittsburgh's runs. Johnny Wyrostek homered for Cincinnati.

The Phils and Dodgers divided a pair at Philadelphia, the Phils taking the opener, 7-4, on the margin of homers by Richie Ashburn, Rookie Stan Lopata and Eddie Miller. Ashburn's homer with a man on base broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh. Peewee Reese hit a two-run Brooklyn homer, the most damaging blow off Lefty Ken Heintzelman, who won his second straight start. The Dodgers took the second game, 6-5, pounding out 11 hits off Curt Simmons and Jim Konstanty. Ralph Branca, with relief help from Jack Banta, scored his second victory.

Joe Garagiola doubled home the winning run in the ninth to give the Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Cubs at St. Louis. The Cards made 12 hits off three pitchers. Ted Wilks relieved Jim Hearn and pitched two scoreless innings to gain the victory.

College Golfers Arrive at Athens

ATHENS — Miami University and Vanderbilt golfers were the first to arrive for the 12th anual Southern Intercollegitae tournament which starts at the Athens Country Club Wednesday. They came in yesterday.

L. S. U., defending champion, and North Texas State were slated to arrive late last night. Other squads are expected to show up today and a busy day is anticipated on the Athens links. At least 20 college teams are expected to vie in the tournament.

Bobby Locke, the South African professional star, will play an exhibition this afternoon, teaming with Club Pro Pooley Hubert against Amateurs Edsel Benson, Athens, and Brother Logan, Savannah.

GOLFING ROUNDUP

Dogwood Tournament Will Be Hard To Top

By BERT PRATHER

There will be many more Dogwood invitation tournaments, but we are just wondering how the good folks out at Druid Hills Golf Club will be able to improve on the record-breaking tournament which was completed late yesterday afternoon with W. D. P. McDowell and Herman Dixson handed out 40 handsome pieces of sterling to the various and sundry winners in this, the fifth staging of one of the South's greatest invitational meets.

A record field of 308 competed in the qualifying rounds with 195 finally squeezing into the tournament proper. This figure in itself is enough proof that Druid Hills has accomplished what it set out to do, make the tournament the most attractive in this section.

The tournament, which is run off in big league style with such folks as Col. Lee S. Read, Verne Murrah, Dan McDowell, Rabbit Smith, President Hester, and Club Manager Armand Chappeau, handling the key jobs, is unique in that the championship flighters compete at medal and the lower flights at match play. This unusual setup may be one reason why the tournament has proven so popular that the invitation list has to be restricted each year.

Aside from the golfing end of the meet, there is the social side. Druid Hills sets aside a sizable sum for entertainment and to say this phase of the week's program is a success would be putting it mildly. A big function is staged each night for the competitors and their ladies.

Chip Shots

Col. Lee Read, who holds down the job of Secretary and Treasurer of the Southern Golf Association in addition to serving as ambassador of good will for the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the Kentucky Derby, is backing Fred Hooper's Olympia in this year's Diamond Jubilee of the run for the roses . . . The charming Mrs. Read accompanied him here . . . Other out-of-town visitors who enjoyed the final days of the Dogwood were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Temple, and Garnett Andrews, of Savannah's General Oglethorpe, scene of the upcoming women's State tournament . . . Bob White, of Savannah Golf Club, made a fine start in his third round yesterday, posting four birdies for a four under 32 for the front nine, but skidded to a 38 on the back side . . . This was the best first nine of meet . . . Youngsters Tony Baker and Robert Stem, who clashed in the ninth flight finals, came by the scoreboard for a ruling . . . Before they left they had asked for ruling on three different situations . . . Billy Gibson, the former Tech backfielder, was one of the three 86 shooters who failed to make the tournament . . . Three 86 cards were pulled out to hold the final flight to the required 16 . . .

Play was on the slow side yesterday, thus forcing the finalist to hustle to get it before dark . . . Southern Intercollegiate champion Al Besselink, of University of Miami, would have put Jimmy Demaret to shame yesterday . . . He showed up wearing brilliant red slacks and shirt and a white felt cap. . . . In the afternoon Al Smith to a yellow onsemble.

SIGNED BASEBALL ARRIVES TOO LATE FOR AILING BOY

EASTON, Conn. — (INS) — The autographed baseball an ailing five-year-old boy requested by letter from Joe DiMaggio while in New Haven General Hospital awaiting a rare heart operation arrived yesterday, a few hours too late.

Franklin Martin, Jr., of Easton, died Saturday night.

X-rays showed the child had a large hole on one side of his heart, while the other side was enlarged abnormally. He was to undergo an operation today, and physicians yesterday still were seeking the cause of death.

Doctor's told the boy's parents the unusual condition of the heart was stunting the lad's normal growth and advised an operation.

Tech Plays Auburn Today

Georgia Tech's baseball team, after dividing a two-game series with Tennessee last weekend, returns home this afternoon to meet the Auburn Tigers at the Rose Bowl at 4 o'clock.

Coach Joe Pittard will probably send J. B. Thompson, the game little left-hander, to the hill in the series opener, with Herb Bradshaw on tap for Tuesday's finale. Tech and Auburn divided two games at Auburn earlier this year.

Florida moves in for games Friday and Saturday at the Rose Bowl.

Ransom Wins At Wilmington

WILMINGTON, N. C. — (AP) Henry Ransom, St. Andrews, Ill., shot a two-under-par 70 yesterday for a 276 total to win the $10,000 Wilmington Open Golf tournament.

Paul O'Leary, the newcomer from Bismarck, N. D., who had led the field the first three days, ballooned to a 78 for a 281 total that was good only for a sixth-place tie.

Four deadlocked for second place at 278. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., and Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., finished with 68s for that total. Fred Haas, Jr., New Orleans, La., made it with a 69, and Bobby Locke, Johannesburg, South Africa, wound up with a 71.

Garlington Wins Top Skeet Honor

Ed Garlington captured the All-Bore City Championship in the second and final day's firing of the annual skeet tournament yesterday at the Capitol Gun Club. He tied with Harry Harkins, City Small-Gauge Champion, with 143-x150 and won in the shoot-off. Charlie Williams was next with 136x150. He tied Sam Ham Gainesville, Ga., but won on the toss.

Other results:

CLASS C—J. M. Creech, 123x150. High Professional—Jack Chisnall, 140x150. City Lady Champion—Mrs. Clyde King, Jr. City Junior Champion—Bob Autrey, Jr. Two-Man Team Race—E. A. Garlington-Harry Harkins, 286x300. Five-Man Team Race—Harry Harkins, Bob Autrey, Sr., W. W. Dulaney, Bill Golden, Jack Chesnall 696x750. High Over-All—Clyde King Jr., 318x350. High Over-All Professional—Paul Lewis, 318-350. City Ladies' 20-Gauge Champion — Migs Judy King, 84x100.

Flock Wins

Fonty Flock, Atlanta, won the 20-mile stock car race at Martinsville, Va., yesterday, beating Curtis Turner, Christianburg, Va.

Don't Pay Unless Relieved
Or Get 50¢ Size At Druggist

At least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

BEWARE OF IT SPREADING

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quickly as possible, because it is both contagious and infectious, and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

DISEASE OFTEN MISUNDERSTOOD

The cause of the disease is not a germ as so many people think, but a vegetable growth that becomes buried beneath the outer tissues of the skin.

To obtain relief the medicine to be used should first gently dissolve or remove the outer skin and then kill the vegetable growth.

This growth is so hard to kill that a test shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy it; however, laboratory tests also show that H. F. will kill it upon contact in 15 seconds.

DOUBLE ACTION NEEDED

Recently H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It both gently dissolves the skin and then kills the vegetable growth upon contact. Both actions are necessary for prompt relief.

H. F. is a liquid that doesn't stain. You just paint the infected parts nightly before going to bed. Often the terrible itching is relieved at once.

James Maddox Hurls No-Hit Tilt For Fairview Nine; Camp Bests Hasty

James Maddox hurled the first no-hitter of the season in the Sunday Amateur Federation as Fairview shelled Conley, 23-0, yesterday in an Eastern League game. Maddox fanned 21 batters, also a new high for the young season.

However, this game didn't set the pattern of play for the day as the amateurs settled down to fine defensive duels on several fronts.

For instance, Palmetto edged Ben Hill, 4-3, in the Southern League as Eddie Jackson singled home the winning run in the tenth inning. Right-hander Billy Turner limited Ben Hill to six safeties in a hurling battle with Pace.

Kirkwood shoved over two runs in the eighth inning to gain a 7-5 decision over Oakland City in the outstanding tilt in the County League.

Grant Park's Joiner baffled Industrial Trades on five safeties to carve out a 4-3 victory in a National League feature. Industrial scored all three of its runs in the third, while Grant Park pushed over two runs in the fifth and seventh each.

Buckhead's Jack Camp and Colonial Stores' Hasty hooked up in a hot pitching duel in the Peach League as Buckhead took a 3-1 decision. Camp yielded only three hits and fanned 15, while Hasty was touched for seven safeties and whiffed 11.

Two brothers, Pete and Richard Osborne, staged a hurlers' battle in the Chattahoochee loop as Post 216 shaded West Fulton Aces, 4-1. Pete, who was the winning pitcher, blanked the Aces after the first inning, and Post 216 rallied for three scores in the seventh to cinch the game.

In the State League, Welcome All nipped Fairburn, 4-3, and Fairburn clipped Tell, 8-2, in a Southern League tilt.

In Opposition to the Truman Bill

We long ago announced our opposition to President Truman's compulsory health insurance program.

We do not regard it as any more socialistic than the general theory of Social Security legislation which generally is accepted and approved. Indeed, we think it unfortunate the legislation was assailed as "socialized medicine."

We oppose it because of a lingering faith in the idea that we must retain as much State and local control as possible in those fields where it is practical. We oppose it, too, because it does make possible bureaucratic control of hospitals and because it would set up a faction of doctors, almost inevitably the least successful and able, who would clamor for more and more control of medicine.

We do believe that some form of aid to the States should be supplied, for administration by the States, so as to assist the already overburdened doctors, who give much of their time to charity, so that those unable to obtain medical care may do so. What form this would take we do not suggest. There are bills before the Congress, one of them submitted by Sen. Robert Taft, GOP leader, and there is another presented by Sen. Lister Hill, Democrat, from Alabama.

We do not believe Mr. Truman's bill will be adopted and we urge our good friends, the doctors, to keep their shirts on and to concentrate their efforts on obtaining the sort of measure which will meet the needs.

Meanwhile, we do trust that the so-called auxiliary features of the President's bill will be made part of whatever legislation finally is adopted. These include Federal aid to medical education. We hope that will take the form of subsidies in medical scholarships. One of the irritating features of Mr. Truman's proposals has been its bland ignoring of the fact that the core of the problem is lack of doctors.

Continued aid to hospital construction and to research also are proposed in these auxiliary measures and they should be adopted.

We are not going to have socialized medicine. The British plan cannot fit this country. What we need to do is to join hands to work out an American plan meeting American needs.

Our Catholic Friends in Error

We note with regret that the National Catholic Educational Association has adopted a resolution at its recent session in Philadelphia asking for Federal aid to the Catholic Parochial schools on the basis that such aid should be granted equitably to all schools which serve the public good.

We urge our Catholic friends to think again. Such a proposal seems to us in such obvious error as to require no argument. So great is the error that one does not even have to resort to the very valid argument of separation of church and State to prove the folly of such a proposal.

To carry out their resolution would open the door to any substantial sect to set up schools in every community and demand and get Federal aid. Our good friends of the fast-growing Holiness Church, the Adventists, the Mormons, Christian Scientists and others would almost be required to establish their own parochial schools.

Do our friends mean to argue, for example, that here in Georgia the excellent Baptist institutions and those of the Methodists and Presbyterians should be placed under Federal aid?

Our public school system already is heavily burdened. We cannot add to it a weight which would snowball with every passing year.

Let us stick to the American system.

Let any church which wishes establish and support its parochial schools. Let all parents who wish send their children to them or to other private institutions. But let it be understood they are not required to establish such schools. Let us see to it that we have a strong public school system which is open to the children of all religious sects—as it now is. Our job and duty is to improve it.

Surely, if our friends who so recently met in Philadelphia will think twice they will see that the nation could not, and should not, support a myriad of parochial schools of all religious sects as it would have to do if the bars were let down.

To do so would be folly for all of us.

Wind Up Estate?

A woman who died in New Hampshire has set up in her will a $1,000 bequest to see that the clock in the public library keeps the right time. Do you reckon that someone has to go around every eight days to wind up the estate?

A Worthy Project

In observance of National Home Demonstration Week, May 1 to 7, Georgia home demonstration club members have chosen to stress their drive for a bookmobile that would take library service into areas now without it.

Surely there is a worth-while project.

Providing facilities to stimulate the first of the "Three Rs" is a good way to help lower our rate of illiteracy, which is still too high.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

The Makings of an Ideological A-Bomb?

WASHINGTON—An incident occurred recently in one of the European countries behind the iron curtain which suggests a line we might adopt to counter Soviet propaganda about the economic and social "misery" of Americans under the evils of our "imperialistic, warmongering" capitalistic system, as Moscow describes it. Not enough attention was given it by the newspapers.

At Belgrade in Yugoslavia, which is under the dominance of the Soviet Union, the American Embassy added to its library of information furnished by the State Department a copy of the latest mail order catalog of Sears, Roebuck & Company, the great American mail order house. It was offered as a part of the literature which our Embassy makes available to Yugoslavs who wish to read something about America.

Shortly thereafter a rather amazing thing happened. As word of the catalog became whispered about, the Embassy was beseiged with callers who wanted to have a look at it. According to our officials there, residents of Marshal Tito's capital flocked to the American Embassy in droves and even formed lines clear around the block while waiting their turn for a look at the catalog.

And that wasn't all. The curious crowds were not merely curious. They wanted to buy some of the things they saw listed. Great numbers of them rushed back to the bank to convert the equivalent of $6 in Yugoslav currency, which is the legal limit for each individual, into dollar drafts with which to order some of the goods. So many applications swamped the bank that the drafts were banned.

We may assume that the Yugoslavs were tremendously impressed with the variety and quality of American goods that are available for sale here. Over there many things are still scarce and not to be found even at a premium. Moscow, it would appear, has been doing little to help Tito's heretical Communist regime supply the people with the consumer goods they need.

The same is true of all the lands within the Kremlin's orbit. Not being able to supply the people with the goods and services that are commonplace here, the Soviet propagandists have been feeding out the line that our people are worse off here than there.

It all fits into the theme developed by former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in his Boston speech a short while back. He suggested that the Soviets fear our friendship more than our hostility. What he meant was that the men of the Kremlin do not want a friendly relationship with us because they do not want their people to know how well off the people here are in comparison. These things, such as the listings in our mail order house catalogs, they would have the people kept in ignorance of.

If the peoples under Soviet dominance knew of conditions here under our capitalistic system—the great quantity and variety of goods and services available at reasonable prices — they might rise up and revolt for something of the kind for themselves. They might just possibly get the idea that Communism is not all it is cracked up to be.

It is to the advantage of Uncle Joe Stalin and his Kremlin associates to keep the people in as much ignorance of these matters as possible. He probably remembers the advice given him in a facetious vein by President Roosevelt during one of their wartime meetings when they were talking about educational programs: "Don't educate your people too much, Uncle Joe," the President said to him, "they might leave you"—or something to that effect.

Judging from what happened several days ago at Belgrade, perhaps the best ideological weapon we could use to counteract Soviet propaganda against us would be to distribute a few catalogs of the kind gotten out annually by Sears, Roebuck, Montgomery, Ward, and the other big mail order houses of the United States.

If we could get these bulky books around to the people for them to see, it would give them a better idea of what really goes on over here. It might make them feel a bit unsatisfied with their present lot. Certainly it would disabuse their minds of the thought, planted by the Soviet propagandists, that America is a poorhouse of economic and social miseries. The mail order house catalogs may have the makings of an ideological A-bomb.

Commie Appeal To Infantile Minds

Someone sent me a copy of the Daily Worker, the New York Communist weekly pandering to infantile minds, in which there was an article very critical of Mark Ethridge, of the Louisville Courier Journal, and me.

It came on the same day I was reading about Eugene Dennis, head of the Communist Party in New York, and also about the pathetic young fellow in Cartersville, Ga., who was so immature of mind and so unstable of character he went around like a quacking gosling and got caught babbling Communist threats.

I thought the Sheriff took him a little too seriously when he said that even in peaceful Cartersville such dangerous things as Communist organization was attempted. The young man involved, nameless thus far, had been to Atlanta where Homer Chase, the local gauleiter of the Commies had been indoctrinating him. Obviously the lad is a dim bulb because after a few doses of Homer's Marxism he went back to Cartersville talking about blowing up dams and doing big things. Homer won't do any big things because Homer himself is a dim bulb, although he can outtalk a clucking hen.

Workers Homer is all out for the working stiff, but as far as I have been able to find, Homer never did a day's labor in his life. His hands are as soft as a piano player's.

The same thing is true of his boss, Dennis.

Eugene Dennis, the national Communist fuehrer, was the product of a broken family and a father who was a failure. Dennis is a wife-stealer, in the best approved methods of the decadent cafe society he is supposed to despise. Chase's background is one of failure. In fact, with but very few exceptions, the Communists one sees are intellectual cowards and punks who haven't got the courage to get a job and earn a living.

Failure It's odd what poverty and a whining, bitter failure for father will do. The two Columbian leaders of a year or so ago had turned to Fascism instead of Communism merely because their immature minds fell first under the leadership of Fascists. They could just as easily have been Communists. I would be willing to wager the youngster in Cartersville also has a background which explains his mentality.

Some go from poverty along the road to a useful life. For some, poverty is a spur. For the Communist punks it is something which sends them off whining about injustice and about the dictatorship of the proletariat. The cynicism of their lives—that they know nothing about the life of a working man or woman—never seems to occur to them.

Tough Except for the tough boys around the top—the ones who put the bloated kipper Dennis out front—the average Communist is an intellectual cripple and a coward. The tough boys want power.

I am sure the Allatoona Dam is safe enough. The hysterical kid in Cartersville need not be afraid for his life. Homer ought not to tell his children ghost stories or take them to see gangster movies. He is inflicting his own juvenile goblins on others and pretty soon we'll have him up for contributing to the downfall of juveniles.

West In this same connection, I had a letter the other day saying I had been unfair to Don West, another Georgia boy who was embittered by his poverty and who became a member of the Communist Party, and who exulted in the fact in signed articles in the Daily Worker.

"West," said the letter, "is not a Communist, and you have done him injustice by saying so. He is a good, Christian man."

Well, he may be. I don't say, and never have said, he now is a Communist. I have said that he once was and that he went to a great deal of trouble to boast about it. He once was an organizer for the Communist Party, according to the files of the Daily Worker, and made a lot of noise about it.

Later A little more than a year ago he was, by his own record, a member of The People's Institute of Applied Religion and was making a donation to it and urging it to get busy in the South. The organization is listed, not by the Congressional Committee, but by the Attorney General of the United States as a Communist front organization subversive to the United States.

Nobody has been making any charges against West. He has written his own record. There is nowhere that I have been able to find any record of his having said he had left the Communist Party or the People's Institute of Applied Religion, which is headed by a known Communist and which openly advertises its Communist organizers.

The same letter said Homer Chase had been critical of him.

Where? I have looked for that. But he and Homer worked together in the Wallace campaign. I thought sure that if West had left the Communist Party Homer would be denouncing him. But nowhere that I have been able to find has Homer had an unkind thing to say.

If I've been unjust I'm sincerely sorry. I just don't like persons who masquerade as good "Christians" when in reality they are Commies plying their trade. On his own written record, under his own name, West was a Communist agitator and said he was proud of it. If he isn't, he can say so. He was boastful about being one. Why, if he isn't, be so silent about not being? It doesn't add up, somehow.

BILLY ROSE

The Places They Visited

In a farewell column on Dec. 31 I announced I was going to give my typewriter a four-month vacation while my missus and I took a trip around the world. As I put it at the time, I wanted to see something of the planet before some idiot blew it up.

Well, the other 7 a. m. Eleanor, eight battered suitcases and your Uncle William got out of an air buggy at La Guardia Field after a sky-riding safari in which we covered 35,000 miles and more countries than Joe Stalin can make faces at. And, to give it to you fast, the world is all right for a visit, but I wouldn't live there if they gave me the place.

As many a connoisseur of the cliche has pointed out, to appreciate America you've got to leave it for a while. You've got to go up against the bathrooms of Shanghai and Calcutta to realize the importance of the unspectacular little blessings we take for granted around here.

Stories To Tell But don't get me wrong—Eleanor and I wouldn't have missed seeing the world for the world. Almost everyone of the 35,000 miles was jam-packed with the whacky and the wonderful and, if nothing else, we wound up on speaking terms with a wide assortment of civilizations, climates, fauna and flora. Some of the people we met reside on the front pages and some do their sleeping in back alleys, but they all contributed to the nutty wonder of the junket and, what's even more important, they all had stories to tell.

Thumbing through my shorthand notes on the menus, old envelopes and theater programs I've been carting around, I realize it will take many a column and many a calloused quip to get these stories on paper, but here's a quick run-through of some of the yarns I'll be unwinding in this chatterbox for the next several weeks.

RIO DE JANEIRO—The story of what happened when I met Brazil's atom bomb at Lily's Castle and the peculiar request she made.

BUENOS AIRES—My tete-a-tete with President Peron and his promise to exchange open letters openly with me . . . What Eleanor thought of Senora Evita and the solid gold knick-knacks on her shoes.

MEXICO CITY—The goose-bumpy story of the lady who loved too well in a graveyard.

Things To Come HOLLYWOOD—Why I think the movie boys ought to go to Washington and kiss the pavement in front of the Supreme Court Building.

HONOLULU—The incredible tale of voodoo and vengeance that's a cinch to make the anthologies—that is, if I can make the adjectives behave.

TOKYO—How I met up with an old chum of Eleanor's—name of Gen. MacArthur—and his answer to the question, "How come you've never come back for the hero's welcome that has been waiting for you in the United States?"

SHANGHAI—The lowdown on the Al Capone of China and his monopoly of show business . . . The village where you can buy a human being for ten dollars.

CALCUTTA—The two million people we saw sleeping on the sidewalks and the Commies' chances of pulling the iron window-shade down on India.

ATHENS—The bitter facts about the Near Eastern oil swindle and why Jim Forrestal isn't likely to invite me to tea after my piece appears.

More of Them ISRAEL—Why a Palestinian who doesn't believe in miracles isn't a realist . . . The stop-watch war . . . The battle that was won with sound effects . . . The Arab sniper who made Eleanor take off her red scarf.

ROME—Our private audience with the Pope and the little joke that got a laugh from His Holiness . . . The story of the grateful rabbi who turned Catholic . . . A bare-knuckle appraisal of our Ambassador to Italy, James Dunn . . . The beautiful chanteuse with the pronounced talent and the unpronounceable name.

And so fasten your safety belts, ladies and gentlemen. In the next column we take off from La Guardia at 9 a. m. sharp. Destination—Rio!

JOSEPH ALSOP

Economy, At Last, in Military Planning

If the experience of the 1930s means anything, nothing could be more dangerous than to respond to the challenge of Soviet rearmament by adopting a policy of collective military weakness, as some are now proposing. On the other hand, it is equally obvious that when the world situation must severely strain American resources in any case, nothing could be more foolish than to do the defense job in hand in a wasteful way.

These twin truisms are relevant at the moment, because developments at the Pentagon at last hold out some hope for rational, which means economical, American defense planning. After nearly four years of ill-concealed failure to agree on a unified strategic concept, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have at last got down to business. Perhaps they may fail in their task, which is essentially to slice away the unnecessary excrescences put out by each service in order to compete with the others. But at any rate they are trying.

The background of this event is interesing and important. The story may be considered to begin with the President's order, placing a $15,000,000,000 ceiling on defense spending this year. The order was originally issued last Spring. The grave danger of slowing the tempo of American rearmament (which has been the immediate effect of this order) has often been pointed out in this space. It must be said in justice, therefore, that part of the blame lies with the military chiefs themselves.

From the end of the war onward, each service had followed the practice of preparing its own independent program and budget. All three programs and budgets had then been added together, without reference to any agreed long-range plan positively allotting roles and missions to each service.

There was also something close to an unspoken rule, that if one service got a billion, the others had a right to a billion also. And violent recriminations ensued if any service chief tried to suggest that his colleagues' plans were a bit ambitious, as Gen. Carl A. Spaatz did about the Naval air program when rearmament began last Spring.

The President's budget ceiling order should have ended this state of affairs immediately. It did not do so, simply because the service chiefs shared the general expectation that the occupant of the White House would not now be Harry S. Truman. Consequently, Truman's re-election, and subsequent insistence on his budget ceiling, caught the services totally unprepared. The outcome was the present scrambled together military budget, which was prepared on the old principle of "a pistol for the rat, a pistol for the badger, a pistol for the mole."

Until this time Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal had perforce followed a plan of letting time and public opinion promote service unification. His detractors, who are either ignorant or malicious or both, forget that if he had adopted strong-arm methods at the first, he would have had to put on the retirement list most of the American senior officers, especially in the Navy.

The knowledge of the gross inadequacy of the combat strength provided in the present budget had the sobering effect on the services that Forrestal had been hoping for. Early in December, the Joint Chiefs of Staff began meeting twice a week instead of once, in order to get to real grips with their problem. Shortly thereafter, on Forrestal's motion, General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower was brought to Washington to serve as an impartial arbiter. And the process was speeded up further, until it reached the present tempo of almost continuous hard work.

If the final decisions are bold eough, the program of each service will be exactly tailored to carry out clearly defined roles and missions, which will in turn be determined by agreed, long-range strategic plans. This will mean more real combat potential for the money invested.

But there is also another kind of economy which the services might investigate, that differs from the economy derived from true unification. The Army, for instance, has 10 combat divisions out of a total of 692,000 troops and 370,000 civilians in its employ. The soldiers are the most expensive in the world. The civilians are even more costly than the soldiers. And there is no defending the ratio between the total of this expensive manpower and the small percentage in fully organized combat units. In this the other services are also at fault. Perhaps an attempt at more economical internal organization will follow the present effort to achieve true unification.

Meanwhile it is vital to note that economical military planning is at last being attempted. The extravagances of the past must not be used as a sort of red herring, to confuse the argument about whether Soviet rearmament demands the strengthening of the West.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Vision or Prophecy

Editor Constitution: About 85 years ago, Walt Whitman wrote the following lines, entitled "Years of the Modern":

"I see not America only—I see not only Liberty's nation, but other nations preparing;

"I see tremendous entrances and exits—I see new combinations—I see the solidarity of races;

"I see that force advancing with irresistible power on the world's stage;

(Have the old forces, the old wars, played their parts? Are the acts suitable to them closed?)

"I see Freedom, completely armed, and victorious, and very haughty, with Law on one side and Peace on the other,

"A stupendous trio, all issuing forth against the idea of caste;

"What historic denouements are these we so rapidly approach?

"I see men marching and counter-marching by swift millions;

"I see the frontiers and boundaries of the old aristocracies broken;

"I see the landmarks of European kings removed;

"I see this day the people beginning their landmarks (all others give way);

"—What whispers are these, O lands, running ahead of you, passing under the seas?

"Are all nations communing? Is there going to be put one heart to the globe?

"Is humanity forming, en masse?—for lo, tyrants tremble, crowns grow dim;

"The earth, restive, confronts a new era."

The above article I clipped from a magazine about 30 years ago; would you call it a poet's vision, or prophecy?

Lauds Tom Stokes

Editor Constitution: I want to express for myself and for many others who feel the same way, thanks and appreciation for the excellent service you are giving your readers by publishing Tom Stokes' column. It is increasingly difficult to obtain an objective, balanced viewpoint on matters of vital concern to all of us and Mr. Stokes, in large measure, supplies such a need. He provides a thoughtful interpretation of men and events that is invaluable in attempting to understand the real news behind the headlines, and he makes his readers better able to decide what is to their own best interest which, in the long run, must coincide with the public interest to endure. This is journalism at its best and your readers are indebted to you for making it available to them.

Atlanta. MRS. PHILIP E. SHULHAFER.

Let's Keep Streets Clean

Editor Constitution: As President of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs I am urging each Club member, each man, woman and child, to help keep trash and paper from the streets at least during dogwood season.

Please don't pile any trash near curb on Saturday afternoon, as you know that collections of trash are not made over the weekend and it is too bad to see the streets untidy on Sunday.

MRS. ARTHUR TUFTS,
Atlanta. President.

On Education

Editor Constitution: Your recent article, "Dissertation on Education," was read by me with great appreciation and approval, and handed around to many colleagues, who gave it the same reaction.

Now comes today's article, which clinches it and is equally approved and appreciated. But I have a change to suggest. Why go clear up to the President of Harvard, when we have less distinguished but much nearer subjects of illustration all over Georgia? Here we have this amazing anomaly: High schol students graduating under teachers who have had the required hours of methods and are thereby all set and panting for further competent educational leading. They go to college and find nine-tenths—in some instances 100 percent—of their teachers men and women who not having had these hours of methods could not get a certificate to teach in graded school. Or so say the "Methodists" (with no disrespect to that fine church). It doesn't make sense, but that doesn't make any difference; very little else in our present set-up does.

Is a Little Cynical About Those Slums

WASHINGTON—You've probably been seeing in the papers lately pictures of horrified Senators inspecting some of America's worst back-alley slums. Soon you'll be seeing the same gentlemen in the newsreels picking their way through the trash heaps.

And always in the background of every photo and movie is a glimpse of the Capitol dome, sparkling in the sunlight, not two blocks away.

Sen. Homer Ferguson, of Michigan, and I, hate to sound synical about this admitted blot on the nation's capital, but we're beginning to wonder whether somebody's keeping these filthy shanties in use on purpose. They come to public attention every year or two, when there's a low-rent housing bill before Congress. The lawgivers take a look, shudder at the sight, and pass the bill.

And the alleys get a little dirtier, a little smellier and a little more overcrowded until the next time a housing bill is up. Local authorities blame Congress itself for not giving them the money and the authority to rebuild these ancient crannies where there is no running water except at an alley spigot, and even electric lights are nonexistent.

Some of the buildings were condemned more than 20 years ago, but they still contain people, in some cases a dozen to a room. Throughout the area are no-dumping signs; some of these are obscured by heaps of rubbish. Why the laws are not enforced, at least, the Senator does not understand, but you can't blame him for wondering.

And here we are again with a new national housing bill on tap, one which is expected to call for the spending of $15,000,000,000 in the next 40 years and to provide decent housing for 810,000 families.

Some legislators think that is too much money. But most agree that it really isn't enough. As Sen. Willis Robertson, of Virginia, put it, there are 7,000,000 families in need of homes; to finish the job would cost $200,000,000,000.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, who became interested in the housing problem of his native Cincinnati and who had a large part in the drafting of the bill, feels the solution over the years won't be quite that costly. If building costs ever come down a good many millions will be willing and able to buy their own homes, he expects. And this bill in his opinion is about the only thing the Government can do to get started belatedly on a scheme to give everybody a proper place to live.

So there were the gentlemen debating the bill, with frequent references to the horrid slums almost under their noses, and I must report that they got into some weird arguments. There was, for insance, the amendment of Sen. John Bricker, of Ohio, to keep Government employees out of low-rent projects. An excellent idea, cried Sen. Homer E. Capehart, of Indiana. They've got steady jobs, he said, and certainly they can afford to pay for their own homes. He said he defied anybody to argue otherwise. A dozen Senators jumped up.

"What if the country falls on evil days and the WPA, God bless its soul, has to be resurrected. Won't its workers be Government employees?" asked Sen. Ralph Flanders, of Vermont.

"And wouldn't it bar the charwomen who clean our offices?" roared Sen. Charles W. Tobey, of New Hampshire.

Sen. Capehart said if their wages were that low, Congress ought to raise 'em. Sen. William Langer, of North Dakota, said he'd tried. And so on all afternon. What happens to the alleys twisting almost in the shadow of the dome is a small part of the national picture, but Sen. Ferguson and I are interested, anyhow. We've still got our doubts.

Norway To Activate Fortifications

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Dean Acheson has informed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the United States will not send any of its secret weapons to the European signatories of the North Atlantic Pact.

It was authoritatively learned that Acheson told the Senate Committee he had imparted this decision to the European Foreign Ministers during their recent conferences with him in Washington. Acheson explained that this policy was determined on two grounds:

First, the U. S. proposes to take no undue risks in having its secret weapons, particularly long-range guided missiles, falling into the hands of unfriendly sources. Second, by withholding these type of weapons from the proposed European arms program, the U. S. will present tangible evidence of the sincerity of its claim that the pact is not provocative.

Acheson is also reported to have informed the Senate Committee that this decision had been approved by the foreign ministers.

Acheson declared that the European statesmen had stressed the need of assuring the people of their countries that the pact was of a defensive nature. The foreign ministers were unanimous that their nations were war-weary and profoundly uneasy over the danger of a new conflict. While sentiment was overwhelmingly against Russian aggression, the peoples of Europe, at the same time, were apprehensive about becoming embroiled in another war.

For that reason the foreign ministers, according to Acheson, were in complete accord with the U. S. decision not to send guided missiles and other secret weapons to Europe.

It is also understood that Acheson stated that the smaller western European countries emphasized the desirability of doing nothing that might "inflame" Russia to overt action. Norway, Denmark and Holland, particularly, stressed this point. They warned against taking any military steps under the pact that would give the war group in Russia grounds for precipitating an irretrievable situation.

Norwegian Foreign Minister Lange, Acheson told the Senate Committee, declared flatly that his Government would give no bases to the U. S. No such request was made. Russian propaganda organs have claimed that the granting of such bases was one of the secret understandings of the pact. Both the U. S. and Norway have denied this contention.

In his talks with Acheson, Lange explained that while Norway will withhold bases to any foreign country, she will push vigorous measures to develop her own bases. As part of this program, Norway plans to reactivate the extensive Norwegian coastal fortifications constructed by the Nazis during their occupation.

This defensive system extends from the Narvik channel up to the Arctic Circle. It consists of elaborate underground gun emplacements of massive construction. Certain portions of the fortifications are so complex that Norway has had to seek out German engineers to explain their ramifications.

Acheson also advised the Foreign Relations Committee that Foreign Minister Robert Schuman had informed him that the French are reviving the famed Maginot Line. This defensive system, reaching from the Vosges Mountains to Luxembourg, proved unavailing in 1940 because it was flanked by the Germans in their Spring offensive. Schuman said that the line will be modernized and extended in co-operation with Luxembourg and Belgium.

It was also learned authoritatively that Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan, Republican leader of the Foreign Relations Committee, told his colleagues and Acheson that he was going along reluctantly on the European arms program. Vandenberg declared that he had not favored the weapons plan when the pact was being formulated. He didn't consider the arms program necessary. But now that it has been made such a major issue, as a supplementary part ot the pact, he felt it would be unwise not to go through with it.

As authoritatively reported, Vandenberg summed up his position as follows:

"It seemed to me at the time the pact was under consideration that it was a big 'keep off the grass' warning sign. The pact demonstrated unequivocably that we were prepared to back the Western European powers against aggression with all the resources at our command. That means a lot more than distributing a certain amount of armament and munitions to this country and that country.

"But there has been so much talk and emphasis on how the arms program would implement the pact that we now have to consider seriously the question of rearming Western Europe. That does not mean that I consider the arms program as the heart of the pact. But discussion about its implementation has become so int nsi- that rearmament is now a 'must' factor. Therefore it is essential that we get all the necessary information on this rearmament plan."

It is reported that Vandenberg does not favor the Foreign Relations Committee acting on the pact and the arms program at the same time. He is insisting on complete information being given the Committee on the arms plan during the current hearings on the pact. But he is opposed to the two matters being passed on by the Committee simultaneously. Vandenberg is said to take the position that the Senate should first dispose of the pact and then take up the arms program separately.

This is essentially the strategy advocated by the State Department.

THE QUESTION: Do you think people would enjoy opera more if it were in English?

THE ANSWERS:

(Intermission time, Mignon; Fox theatre)

JAMES HOWELL, 61 Tradd, Charleston, S. C., college student — I've heard more discussion on that. Well, I think they would, if lyrics were written to the music. So much of the French repeats itself. They sing the same thing over and over to a different tune. It's the music that brings people back. Of course, the lyrics in English would have to be good.

EUGENIO PROSPERONI, 174 Alabama St. SW, vocal teacher — No, they'd like it better in French. It's better for the singers, because it was composed in that language. Every opera must be sung in the language it is composed in. If you change the words into another language, they lose their meaning. The music is written for that libretto. The feeling of the composer was for that language. Unless the translation is made very well, it's no good. That is very difficult, for the libretto is usually poetry.

MRS. J. C. MOUNTS, 926 Greenwood Ave. NE, voice student — It makes good sense to translate into English, but not good art. I think you lose a lot of the beauty of the opera and the nuance of the language in translating it into English. I don't think anyone would enjoy opera a bit more. French and Italian are musical languages. In most cases, the foreign words are easier to sing, for they have more vowels in them. If people would read the stories of the operas, and then, go to listen; they'd know what was happening, without understanding the words.

How Do You Deobligate Your Expiry?

WASHINGTON—If there be any of my readers who do not fully understand the workings of the Marshall Plan and where it will all end, I can provide them with the same crystal-clear explanation which has just been handed to Congress.

The bill to extend the European Recovery Program clarifies the whole thing in this simple declarative sentence:

"The circumstance that funds may be unobligated at the moment of expiry of the current fiscal year or may subsequently become deobligated will be due solely to problems inherent in the flunctuation of the market and in the mechanics of bookkeeping."

So all you've gotta do to figure it out is just deobligate your expiry.

OUR MISS REID said she understood the above thoroughly, but that she was still puzzled about Belshazzar's feast.

Having been absent from these parts for a few days, I was not aware that Belshazzar had been giving any dinners. I asked if he was trying to muscle in on Perle Mesta.

"I don't quite get it myself," confessed Miss Reid, "but Paul Hoffman, head of the Economic Co-operation Administration, gave a dinner at which all members of the Senate Appropriations Committee except Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, of Nebraska, were invited."

"That seems kind of thick," I said, "particularly when you consider Wherry is also Senate Republican leader. But where does Belshazzar come into it?"

"That's what Sen. Wherry called the dinner. He said he was not invited to the feast of Belshazzar, 'because of the handwriting on the wall—the fact that the ECA appropriation is going to be cut'. Didn't the hotel management complain about them scribbling on the walls?"

"That's allegorical," I said, "Belshazzar, the King of Babylon, was the son of Nebuchadnezzar, who had been so wicked he was made to eat as the beasts of the field. The fact that his old man was turned out to pasture didn't reform Belshazzar, however, and he continued to be just as wicked.

"He was hitting it up one night with his princes, his wives and cucumbers (Daniel 5:1-28) when a part of a hand began writing on the wall. It wrote: 'Mene, mene, tekel, upharsin.' You know what that means?"

"Probably some of the talk you picked up from those hula dames in Hawaii."

"Not exactly. Biblical scholars have never been able to quite get together on it, but they are agreed that part of it means 'Thou are weighed in the balances, and art found wanting.'"

"Oh, I see now," brightened Miss Reid. "It means Sen. Wherry wasn't invited to the dinner because the ECA is afraid it is going to lose weight."

THE EDITORS of the Congressional Record have deconstrated to Sen. Scott Lucas, of Illinois, that he can't get any loose language into their impeccable publication.

The distinguished majority leader was holding forth on the need for the Administration-backed steam plant at New Johnsonville, Tenn., to generate additional energy for the Tennessee Valley Authority, declaring it might be vital in the event of war. Finally he shouted:

"I do not want to be caught with my pants down in another grave emergency that might arise."

But the editors were on the nice-Nelly alert. In the next day's record Mr. Lucas was quoted as saying: "I do not want to be caught with my 'plants' down. . . ."

This represented fine old English tradition. In the old days a nosegay was regarded as the best way to ward off the plague and the smells of the poor.

If it's true that the poor give off an effluvium, I wonder how long it will be before the Marshall-Plan spenders begin holding nosegays between themselves and the American taxpayers?

Attention, Farmers—the Brennan Plan

(From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

The immediate purpose of Sec. of Agriculture Brannan's farm program is to keep agricultural income next year at just about the level Department of Agriculture economists expect for this year—assuming no sharp change either in prices paid or prices received by farmers. That's a big assumption. But if it came to pass, then the cost of the Brannan plan in 1950 would not exceed previous support plans, and might even be less.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics anticipates that 1949 income from farm marketings will run to $27,500,000,000. That's down $3,500,000,000, or 11 percent, from 1948's all-time high of $31,000,000,000. But it's slightly above the $26,234,000,000 farm income Brannan considers necessary to provide farmers with a standard of living consistent with what they have had over the past 10 years.

Brannan's long-term purpose is to cushion farm marketings from such declines as $14,600,000,000 in 1919 to $8,150,000,000 in 1921, or $11,300,000,000 in 1929 to $4,700,000,000 in 1932. He wants to substitute comparative stability for periodic bankruptcies. His argument: A well-to-do farm community can afford the automobiles, electricity, television sets, vacuum cleaners, farm machinery, clothes, etc., which city dwellers make.

In the modern economy the farmer is the victim of price changes—just as the factory worker is the victim of unemployment. The Brannan plan provides the farmer with what is tantamount to a minimum guaranteed annual wage in terms of the things he purchases.

Brannan put it this way in his testimony before a joint session of the House Committee on Agriculture and the Senate Committee of Agriculture and Forestry: "Price supports are the farmer's equivalent to the laboring man's minimum wage, social security, and collective bargaining arrangements." Brannan as the Secretary of Agriculture is the farmer's special pleader, his "union leader."

The easiest way to understand the Brannan plan is to see it work. He takes farm marketings for the last 10 years and divides by the farmer's cost of living (that is by the prices farmers pay for goods and services, including interest and taxes). That gives the farmer's "real income" year by year as follows:

1939	$ 7,877	73	$10,790
1940	8,364	73	11,458
1941	11,181	77	14,521
1942	15,372	88	17,468
1943	19,434	95	20,457
1944	20,260	99	20,566
1945	21,520	101	21,307
1946	24,864	113	22,004
1947	30,186	135	22,360
1948	31,019	146	21,246

Farm "real income" for the 10 years averages out to $18,218,000,000 in 1939-48 dollars. That's Brannan's minimum—assuming the farmer's cost of living index is at 100. But today his cost of living index registers 144. So, a cash income of $26,234,000,000 in 1949 is necessary to obtain a real income of $18,218,000,000 ($18,218,000,000 multiplied by 144).

Now, Brannan proceeds to work out a formula to determine the support price for farm products. Again he uses a 10-year average. He takes actual receipts of farm marketings for the preceding nine years and adds to it the department's estimate of the current year's marketings. For 1940-1949 that would work out to $20,980,000,000. And that fixes for Brannan the support price for individual commodities at 125 percent of the level in the preceding years. (The 125 percent is obtained by dividing the "Brannan cash minimum" of $26,234,000,000 by the 10-year average of $20,980,000,000.)

Beef, wheat and cotton are now selling above the Brannan support prices, corn and eggs below, and hogs at the same level. Here's the way the Brannan support prices would compare with (a) current prices received by farmers, (b) present support prices, and (c) average prices during 1940-49:

PRODUCT:	Brannan Price	Current Price	Present Support	'40-49 Aver.
Hogs (cwt.)	$19.00	$19.00	$16.10	$15.20
Beef (cwt.)	16.90	20.50	12.00	16.50
Wheat (bu.)	1.88	2.00	1.95	1.50
Corn (bu.)	1.46	1.25	1.42	1.17
Cotton (lb.)	.28	.29	.27	.22
Eggs (doz.)	.46	.43	.48	.37

The plan would be supported by general taxes. If effective, it would tie in rural income with urban income so that city dwellers would not gain at the expense of farmers—and presumably vice versa. If the cost of living drops, support prices would drop. If the cost of living rises, support prices would rise.

The plan is an experiment. Congress undoubtedly will revamp it. But it serves as a beginning—as something to work on. And out of it, some law will emerge. In this age of economic interrelation, it is no longer feasible to permit 6,000,000 farmers to overproduce themselves and the nation into depression. They need guides—suggestions—as to production and consumption possibilities.

Midshipman Graduates

Midshipman J. C. L. Lance, 19, of 1276 West Peachtree St., N. W., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Lance, of the West Peachtree address, has graduated from preflight school at the U. S. Naval School at Pensacola, Fla. The Atlantan, who plans a Navy career, is currently in flight training at Whiting Field, Fla. A graduate of the old Boys High School, Midshipman Lance attended Georgia Tech for one year and the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, for a little over a year before entering the Navy Oct. 6, 1948. He is a native Atlantan.

J. C. L. Lance

Major Transferred

Maj. Harry Jones, of Atlanta, has been transferred to Atlantic Division Headquarters of the Military Air Transport Service at Westover Air Force Base, Mass. Maj. Jones has been assigned as Deputy Chief of Staff of Personnel and will be responsible for keeping the Atlantic Division supplied with men to fly the 40,000 miles of skylanes through which it travels monthly. He recently served on the Berlin Airlift and has just completed seven months' service on "Operation Vittles."

Texans Eye Steaks

Texas-born officers and enlisted men and Atlanta alumni of Texas A&M College jointly observed San Jacinto Day at the Non-Commissioned Officers' Club at Fort McPherson with Texas steaks and music. Eighty natives of the Lone Star State attended the dinner which was followed by official moving pictures of the Georgia-Texas football game—which Texas won.

Top Brass

Nine top-ranking officers of Atlanta's 108th Airborne Division are attending the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Texas, where they are taking a week-long refresher course. Heading the group is Brig. Gen. Elbert P. Tuttle, Assistant Division Commander. Officers attending the college are Col. Ray Nixon, Division Artillery Commander; Col. Charles F. O'Riordan, of 921 Church St., Decatur; Col. Robert B. Pegram, Jr., of 3180 Arden Rd.; Lt. Col. Edward C. Fitzgerald, 3157 Peachtree Dr.; Lt. Col. Hamilton M. Williams, 735 Elkmont Dr.; Lt. Col. Hubert J. Piette, Atlanta; Maj. Earnest W. Howard, of 1518 Harbut Ave., and Capt. John C. Cowden, of 1932 Shirley St.

Reserve Training

Two Reserve Corps Training Units have been organized at Ellijay and Augusta and commanding officers appointed. Col. James F. Waters heads the Replacement Training Depot at Ellijay and Lt. Col. George C. Nilms commands the Depot at Augusta.

A Friend From Minnesota Speaks

By DORIS LOCKERMAN

It would be dandy to be gifted with Bobby Burns' famous wish, "To see oursel's as ithers see us," if we could be sure all the "ithers" would be as kind as Mrs. Mabel Mauseth Hendrickson, a visitor to Atlanta from Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Hendrickson first came into our lives the day after I had written a column listing Atlanta's prides, with a bouncy letter in which she named a few accomplishments and possessions that ought to be on the tip of everybody's tongue:

"The opera!" she said. "The water! The weather! The blood bank! The new outlook on farming! The 4-H youngsters and the Future Farmers, and the stores! The Woman's Chamber of Commerce! And the newspapers!"

Ah, Mrs. Hendrickson, you are a friend indeed.

An acquaintance later with the visitor from the Middle West brought out other ideas of fraternity which have occurred to her as she has observed our scene.

"I wish we could understand each other better, our sections," she said. "If we in the North could know what you are doing, how progressive you are, how splendidly you are handling your problems and how you are growing, we could be much more helpful and enlightened. I believe if the Northern people could know what the people of Georgia are doing to eliminate some of the prejudices we are carrying around and talking about constantly, we could have far greater harmony and good will between the States."

MABEL MAUSETH HENDRICKSON

Admirer From Minnesota

There are so many misconceptions and misrepresentations even by our statesmen from Minnesota. While Mr. H. H. Humphrey, who is now Senator Humphrey, was Mayor of Minneapolis for several years he had wonderful co-operation and support from some of the finest people in our city, still we wholly disagree with him on many issues. He does not realize how the South is working out their many problems which naturally take time and in the end would accomplish more than raising some issues which he hopes to solve through Federal laws in such a hurry. He is a brilliant speaker—appealing, magnetic—well informed on many things and forceful. He will go far, of that I have not doubt, but he should live in the South to become better informed on the problems of the South."

Things seem to go on in that hustling Houston, don't they?

TO COL. ANNA FRIEDMAN, The Forest, Anchorage, Ky., who must be Kentucky's only woman colonel and, incidentally, is the maternal parent of J. Lee Friedman, local advertising figure. Sorry we can't have some of your famous barbecue for the Governor and his Lieutenant and the General and his lady on the eighth of May. They say all Kentucky begs for the invitation we can't accept!

TO ATLANTA WOMAN'S CLUB BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S SECTION: Congratulations on your choice of the youngsters of the Dooly District in the mountains of Northwest Georgia for your project. The Pearl Henry Foundation, of Lewner, is lucky to have you, too.

TO WASUTA CAMPFIRE GIRLS, of Sylvan Hills P-TA: Your friends say you did a wonderful job selling doughnuts and that you laughed at little limitations like quotas, doubling the one assigned to you. And, oh, yes! The elder-agers at Eventide are still enjoying the corsages you made them at your party for them Friday.

TO ALL WOMEN: The Atlanta Legal Aid Society has just celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary and it might be a good time to notice that women lawyers have been conspicuously useful in that serviceable organization! Frances Dwyer, its director for four years, has actually aided it for 11 years. The others—Patricia Collins, now in the office of the Attorney General in Washington; Lucille Dennison Keenan, Irene Garretson Nichols, Association of Women Lawyers, and Carolyn Pennisi, both of the later past Presidents of the Georgia Association of Women Lawyers—have made noteworthy contributions. It is one legal field, it seems, where men are willing—even eager—to let women take the helm.

YOU WOMEN WHO SUFFER
HOT FLASHES then FEEL CHILLY—

Here's Good News!

Are you between the ages of 38 and 52 and going through that trying functional 'middle-age' period peculiar to women? Does this make you suffer from hot flashes, feel clammy, so nervous, irritable, weak? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms! It's famous for this!

Many wise 'middle-age' women take Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against this distress.

Pinkham's Compound contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. It helps nature (you know what we mean!). This great medicine also has what Doctors call a stomachic tonic effect.

Fashions and Fads

By MAYNITA GERRY

Nothing, to recoin a phrase, is sacred any more—not even baby's pants.

Dimpled nether sides, if plans proceed as ordered, will blossom out this year in pastel tinted diapers . . . either pink or blue, depending on the gender.

The Neiman-Marcus department store of Dallas, Texas, working with Kendall Mills of Walpole, Mass., has livened up its infants' wear counters with a display of Curity diapers that will have the carriage trade sitting mighty pretty, especially since a Dallas manufacturer is also dyeing batiste nursery shirts in exactly matching shades.

For purposes of identification these diapers can be embroidered too. Face-to-face or otherwise, it shouldn't be hard to identify your smallest fry with a name, nickname or initials scrolled across a conspicuous area of the diaper.

Travel is so broadening. Take the case of the little American spoon that went to Paris and turned over a new leaf in fashion history.

Under the spell of this spoon, from International Silver Company's new pattern, "Queen's Lace," Pierre Balmain was inspired to create a lace-overlame wedding dress, Molyneux to design a new short evening dress and Jean Patou to interpret a lace and net evening gown. Marnier was so bowled over that he fashioned a complete trousseau wardrobe, including gowns, slips and negligees.

Well shielded! New shapes in dress shields, especially designed for particular style sleeves, have been added to the current Kleinert line. Because cap sleeves are so popular, a special cap sleeve shield is now available in white, black, brown, navy and gray. It is made in one size only as it can easily be adjusted.

Kimona and other deep armholes will be protected this year with another new shield from this line which is larger than regulation size and of a special shape. This, too, is adjustable to any type of deep-armhole and comes in white only.

You'll find these useful trifles at notions counters, along with skirt shields in delicate lingerie colors of white, blue and tearose (in nylon or silk) to absorb the ugly stains which invariably occur if you sit too long in one spot on a hot summer day.

Higgins-Randall Wedding Attracts Prominent Guests

Guests began arriving Saturday to attend the marriage of Miss Louella Higgins to Luther H. Randall, Jr., which will be fashionably solemnized Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian Church.

The bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. William H. Whorley, Misses Jean and Mary Agnes Whorley, all of Nashville, Tenn., have already arrived and are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Higgins on Tuxedo Road. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Whorley and Robert Whorley, of Nashville, arrived Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Whitfield, Bryan Whitfield, III, of Brooksfield, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Creech, of Twila, Ky., will motor to Atlanta today to attend the wedding, as will Mr. and Mrs. Parks Weeks, of Fulton, Ky.

The bride-elect's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Joseph C. Higgins, Sr., of Fayetteville, Tenn., arrives today, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Bagley, also of Fayetteville.

Other guests from a distance will include Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Black, of Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. Craig Barrow and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Anderson, of Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Jones Conyers, of Jacksonville; William Thompson, of Moultrie; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Tye, III, of Cleveland, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Parkin, of Charlottesville, Tenn.

Brenau Alumnae To Hold Banquet

The Atanta Brenau Alumnae will entertain at their annual banquet on Wednesday evening at the Athletic Club.

The retiring President, Mrs. John S. Candler, II, will turn over the gavel of the Atlanta organization to the new President, Mrs. Brooks Pearson, who will preside.

Other officers are Mrs. Shelley Davis, First Vice President; Mrs. Alan Abele, Second Vice President; Mrs. Claude Grizzard, Secretary, and Mrs. Ronald Pentacost, Treasurer.

Among the special guests from Gainesville will be Dr. Josiah Crudup, President of Brenau College, and Mrs. Crudup; Miss Eva Pearce, Dean Emeritus of Girls; Miss Ella de Tong Wingfield, Dean of Girls; Dr. A. B. Sharp, Dean of the Faculty, and Mrs. Sharp; Miss Louise Trotti, Mesdames Edwin Kerr and John S. Candler, II.

Mrs. Pearson will outline the plans for the pilgrimage of alumnae and prospective students to the college for the Atlanta Alumnae Trustees of the College.

Brenau students will present music and Dr. Crudup will bring greetings and news from the college and will speak briefly on the new program to be put into effect at the beginning of the Fall term of 1949-1950.

After a wedding trip to Sea Island, the couple will reside at 227 Garden Lane, Decatur.

Life's Tangled Web

By ANGELA BROWN

DEAR MRS. BROWN:

I divorced my husband seven years ago and with my three-year-old child returned to live at home with my parents. My 22-year-old sister, Betty, runs with a crowd. Mother and I do not approve of her actions. She will not take advice about any men Mother and I tell her of, and she is causing the whole family a great deal of worry. The blow came when she informed us that she had seen my ex-husband at a number of the parties and she wants to give him a date, but she knows I will raise the roof. She says she is convinced that I was the cause of the divorce because he is so fascinating and attractive no one could leave him. She says she could make him happy and is just waiting for the chance. He was a no good, selfish, shiftless, woman-crazy man, and I am glad to be rid of him, but what can I do about Betty? I do not want her to ruin her life, too.

Worried Widow

Answer. Stay on the sidelines and let your mother and Betty work this thing out. If your mother can have no influence on her, you certainly cannot. If you object or interfere in any way, Betty will misinterpret your opinion for jealousy and a desire to re-marry him. I think her fascination for him lies in the fact that she thinks he is dangerous and has glamour, and her desire to date him shows a very unsympathetic and unfeeling attitude toward you. Her wish to have a date overshadows her good sense. She will have to learn of her error by experience so just stay out of the picture. If the ex-husband comes by to see her, I would suggest your not being there, but of course your feeling toward him would govern your actions.

DEAR MRS. BROWN:

Two of my best friends have filed suit for divorce. I was best man at their marriage and the girl was my sister's best friend. Bob, the husband, and I were in college together and Frances, his wife, and my dead sister were college roommates. So you see it is quite a family affair. Both have told me their side of the divorce and I see both angles and think a divorce was the best thing. Frances calls on me a great deal to take her places since she feels she knows me so well on account of sister, and Bob, etc. She has no one to date so the calls come too often to suit me. I feel like I am turning against Bob by dating her. And then I am not interested anyway. I am a widower with a six-year-old daughter. What would you suggest?

WORRIED WIDOWER.

Answer: Stick to Bob and refuse dates with Frances if you are not interested. Each time she calls give her any excuse you see fit, but saying you planned to be with Bob might be the best answer. Just because she was your dead sister's best friend is no reason for you to become involved in a situation which does not interest you. Bob is your friend, so stay with him.

What is the Secret Of Jennifer Jones?

Did she actually die before she met Joseph Cotten . . . and then live again to have the love affair she missed with him? See David O. Selznick's tender yet terrifying love story, "Portrait of Jennie," at Loew's Wednesday.

She couldn't guess! Can you?

A pretty secretary was asked, "What's in the wrapped box?"

"I just can't guess," she said, ". . . it looks like so many things!"

The wrapped box does look like so many different things! It might contain stationery . . . facial tissues . . . a jewel box. But . . .

It contains Modess! Now in a new-shape, discreet-shape box so new—it may not be in stock at your favorite store. Until it is, ask for Modess in the standard box. Both boxes contain the same number of the same fine napkins. Priced alike. Regular, Junior, and Super Modess sizes.

Now . . . Modess in a wonderful new-shape box!

RELIGION IN GEORGIA

Shocking Discoveries In Churches of State

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

This reporter comes upon queer and curious things in Georgia's religious world as he rambles around. For instance, he finds one preacher in Georgia who never finished the fifth grade in his school work, yet has the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, as given hi mby a whistle-stop college.

This reporter was chocked as he studied an art glass window in one of the richest, biggest churches in the State. In an art panel 25 inches in diameter there is a lovely spray of flowers, the only design in the panel. That spray of flowers consists of four roses, and nothing else save a few rose leaves.

St. James Episcopal Church at Marietta for more than 100 years has had a useful, honorable career. Its membership today approaches 500. Yet, at one time in that church's history, the entire membership consisted of one member.

Conversions Lag

According to authentic reports as to new converts in 1948 in American churches of all denominations, at least 4,000 churches last year did not report a solitary convert. More than 250 of those churches are in Georgia.

For this alarming situation there are several explanations. It may be that there are no unconverted people, since 82 percent of Americans say they are living saved lives. Maybe the unconverted do not get to hear "the gospel which is the power of God unto salvation." It may be that what a good many do hear is "but sounding brass or tinkling cymbals." Maybe some of the sermons are such that the Holy Ghost cannot baptize with power. Maybe Old Man People and his children are so fascinated by the world, the flesh and the devil, or so hot in pursuit of materialism, secularism, humanism and paganism they don't have time to listen to the law of the Lord that converts the soul. There are many other "explanations." What do you think?

Anyhow, here is the situation: Four thousand preachers and at least 80,000 church members passed through an entire year without bringing one lost soul to Jesus Christ in saving faith. They labored a full year in a field white unto the harvest, with not a single convert reported. The devils in hell are mighty glad to hear that report.

Busy Bishop Moore

Whatever his salary may be, Bishop Arthur J. Moore earns it. Like Jehu of old, the bishop has to "drive furiously" to meet and fill all his engagements. For instance, the past three days he has dedicated a total of six churches and parsonages, besides taking part in a motorcade and other functions.

During the nine years Bishop Moore has been Bishop in Charge of the Atlanta Episcopal Area he has dedicated 600 churches and parsonages, and now has a waiting list of 50 more. Four hundred and fifty of the churches and parsonages dedicated by the Bishop are in Georgia.

Last Friday he dedicated the parsonage at Clarkesville, and Mossy Creek's new church building. Saturday he dedicated the Bethel church at Lumpkin camp ground, and the parsonage of the Hall Circuit pastor. Yesterday he dedicated the Oakwood church and then participated in a motorcade to Flowery Branch, where a parsonage dedication took place.

A dedication service involves at least a half-day of the Bishop's time. Six hundred dedications in nine years means 300 days' time consumed. This seems a heavy burden, a great part of which might be taken off the Bishop's shoulders.

Dedicating 600 churches and parsonages in nine years is but one of the minor activities of Bishop Moore. Since January 1 he has conducted five revival campaigns, attended numerous official board meetings, directed the work of restoring Old Church at Oxford. He is president of the two Georgia Methodist Conferences; chairman of the Methodist Board of Missions and Church Extension; chairman of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council and active in a dozen other ways.

BELIEF IN CHURCH, MUSIC

Mother-of-Year Honors Go to 60-Year-Old Texan

NEW YORK—(AP)—A 60-year-old Texas mother who raised six children of her own and helped educate eight others was named last night as American Mother of the Year.

She is Mrs. Pearle Owens Gillis, a tiny, Kentucky-born woman, the wife of a Postal Department worker in Fort Worth, Texas.

A strong believer in her church and in the world of music she raised and helped educate a family that now represents far-flung fields extending from radio to college teaching.

Mrs. Gillis was chosen Mother of the Year by the National Mothers Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation.

As part of the honor, she will come to New York May 3 to attend an American Home Forum and appear as guest of honor at a reception in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Among her children are Don Gillis, Production Manager of the National Broadcasting Company; Dr. Carroll O. Gillis, in the Foreign Mission Service; Dr. Everett A. Gillis, now a college teacher, two housewives, and a son still in college.

Of eight other children whom she helped educate, the Golden Rule Foundation said, one is a director of a symphony orchestra, and another a professor of musicology.

In order to educate her family, the Foundation said, Mrs. Gillis had all the children pitch in to help with paper routes, running errands, mowing lawns, and doing chores for neighbors.

Mrs. Gillis was born in Somerset, Ky., and attended school at Cameron, Mo. She married Earle A. Gillis.

In 1931 the family moved to Fort Worth, where Mrs. Gillis became an active member of the Polytechnic Baptist Church, teaching Sunday School classes and taking part in missionary endeavors.

AFTER 7 YEARS

British Tykes On Candy Binge As Ration Ends

LONDON—(UP)—Eager children, clutching everything from pennies to two-shilling (40-cent) pieces, formed long lines outside candy stores all over Britain yesterday as sweets went off the official ration list for the first time in seven years.

Many confectioneries, normally closed on Sundays, opened specially for the big occasion, and such a rush ensued that some were forced to put their fast-dwindling stocks back on an unofficial ration.

Most grownups adhered to a plea by Food Minister John Strachey to "give the children a chance" and the lines were made up almost entirely of nappy, hungry kids.

One shopkeeper in Folkestone, on the South Coast, felt so good about the whole thing he gave away 200 lollipops free.

I hear a lot about freedom, but the only free folks are the ones so rich or so poor they don't care a whoop what anybody thinks about them.

UPSET STOMACHS YIELD INCHES OF GAS AND BLOAT

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got INNER-AID, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waistline is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise INNER-AID to the sky."—This is an actual testimonial from a man living right here in this vicinity.

INNER-AID is the new formula containing medicinal juices from 12 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores.

Lewis, Aides Draft New Coal Contract Demand

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The annual contract battle between John L. Lewis and soft coal mine owners is about to begin.

The United Mine Workers' chief has called his 200-man Union Policy Committee to meet here today. The session will decide on demands for a new contract to succeed the present industry agreement due to expire June 30.

There have been advance indications these may include requests for doubling the 20-cents-a-ton royalty for the UMW Health and Welfare Fund, a shorter work week and a "share-the-work" plan.

Lewis has kept quiet as usual. But Thomas Kennedy, UMW Vice President, has let it be known the union will seek a shorter work week, geared to declining consumption.

Green Champions Postal Workers

NEW YORK — William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, yesterday urged Congress to pass legislation which would provide a $650 annual wage increase for postal employes. Speaking at a rally of 1,400 post office workers, Green said that postal employees "thus far have waited patiently but in vain for action by Congress."

He asserted that government employees are "still getting pushed around," and criticized Congress for its failure to raise the pay of the masses of workers as it did for government workers in higher brackets. The AFL-endorsed legislative program would affect 500,000 postal employees.

PLANNING FOR BIG NIGHT—Mrs. Ruth W. Sistrunk, right, Supervisor of Physical Education for Atlanta Elementary Schools, goes over plans for elementary grade participation in The Constitution-sponsored Greater Atlanta Music Festival with Miss Hilda Gumm, left, and Mrs. Emily Owings. The Festival will be held Saturday night, May 14, on Grant Field.

1800 Children To Appear In Music Festival

By NELSON BANKS

Eighteen hundred elementary-grade boys and girls will perform in the Greater Atlanta Music Festival Saturday night, May 14, at Grant Field, according to Mrs. Ruth W. Sistrunk, Supervisor of Physical Education for Atlanta Elementary Schools. The free Festival is sponsored by The Constitution.

Again this year the children will perform the colorful folk-dance pattern, so popular in past Festivals. The students will be divided into three groups, each having a distinctive color—red, white or blue. Then through intricate maneuvers they will form a beautiful multi-colored spectacle.

Mrs. Sistrunk points out that a great deal of preparation must be done before such an event is possible. For example, mimeographed sheets must be prepared and sent to each participating school, so that each group will be at the appointed place on the field. The sheets show how the reds, the blues, and the whites must form the particular pattern planned for this year's Festival.

Then, too, arrangements must be made for the costumes. Over 6,000 yards of material have been purchased. This material must be allocated in the proper amount to each school. With 35 different schools involved, this makes a complicated process.

Schools participating are Adair, Capitol View, Sylvan Hills, West, Stanton, Spring, Georgia Avenue, Goldsmith, Smillie, Jerome Jones, S. M. Inman, Haygood, Grant Park, Forrest, Lee, Clark Howell, Ed. S. Cook, Highland, East Lake, Peeples Street, Slaton, Kirkwood, Gordon, Morningside, Williams, Moreland, Key, Ragsdale, Harris, Luckie, Couch, Home Park, Kingsberry, Whitefoord, Crew and Formwalt.

This year's folk-dance program will include two Norwegian dances, the Csebogar and the Bleking. Other dances on the schedule will be Green Sleeves, Ace of Diamonds and Pope! Goes the Weasel.

Mrs. Sistrunk said one of the highlights of the elementary grades' portion of the program will be the formation of the American flag, in full color, by the students.

"A great deal of credit must go to the children," says Mrs. Sistrunk. "It's quite an accomplishment for 1,800 elementary grade children to perform in a group with but one actual full-group rehearsal."

M. B. H&A Association Insures Many Georgia Law Officers

Claims Paid First Quarter Total $218,000

Among the thousands of Georgia citizens who are insured for loss of time from work for hospitalization and medical expense from sickness and accident with the Roy F. Morgan Agency of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association, in Atlanta, are many law enforcement officers, including State, county and city police. This Association offers a number of special plans designed to protect law officers, around the clock for sickness and accident including their daily routine of hazardous duties. These plans offer liberal death benefits, medical care, monthly disability benefits and even hospitalization expense.

Numerous claims are being paid daily to policemen and other officers of the law throughout the entire State of Georgia, and the accompanying photograph is that of W. G. Densmore, of Atlanta, who was employed by the City of Atlanta as a detective when he received disabling injuries in an automobile accident in line of duty during October of 1947. Since his disability date, Mr. Densmore has been receiving regular monthly checks. In addition to the monthly benefits provided for Mr. Densmore, his hospitalization was also paid through a special plan of protection provided for these law officers.

The disability plans offered by this company are carried by members of the City of Atlanta Police Department, the Fulton County Police Department, the Georgia State Highway Patrol, and many other peace officers throughout the State. The Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association insures men and women in practically all occupations, but law enforcement officers have found this company offers protection particularly well suited to their vocation.

Claims paid by the Georgia Agency of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association total $218,055.60 for the first three months of 1949, and many Georgians, regardless of their occupations, have in the past or are now enjoying a monthly income ranging over a long period of years received from the Association because of continued sickness or accident disability. In several individual cases these benefits amount to considerably more than $30,000. The Association has built its various plans of income protection on the foundation of guaranteeing income during disability in order that the economic welfare of any individual or family might be preserved.

Mutual of Omaha was founded forty years ago and enjoys the distinction of being the largest exclusive accident and health association in the world. The Atlanta Agency of this organization has been in continuous operation locally for the past twenty-five years, and claims are paid in the Atlanta Office with the least possible red tape or delay.

During the past 40 years the Association has paid over $256,000,000 in benefits to its policyholders.

In addition to income protection, special plans are offered providing protection against hospitalization expense and even doctor's bills so that it is now possible for any man or woman, regardless of age, to obtain protection under one of these complete coverage plans.

In its ever-increasing program of expansion, the local Association announces that there are some attractive agency connections open at various important localities in Georgia now, and inquiries concerning these agency connections are invited.

Information regarding a special disability protection plan, hospital coverage or doctor's bill coverage for you or your family may be obtained by writing a letter or card to Roy F. Morgan, State Manager, Mutual Benefit Health & Accident Association, P. O. Box 1748, Atlanta 1, Georgia, or by calling the Atlanta Office, sixth floor William Oliver Building, CYpress 5891.

Modernize Outside of Your Home With Asbestos Siding

By JIMMIE CHAMBERS

Now is the time to modernize the outside appearance of your home and there isn't a better way to do it than with asbestos siding and a new roof as applied by the Atlanta Roofing Supply Co.

This concern, located at 66 Fifth St. N. W., can make the outside of your home brighter, cleaner, and neater and with a very small cost to you. "Now that spring is here, don't fail to let us fix-up and modernize the outside of your home," says F. J. Rowland, owner and manager of this company.

In the picture shown herewith can be seen the expert modernization job that was done on the home of Miss Pearl Abernathy, 837 Techwood Dr. N. W. Both roofing and siding was applied and you can readily see how clean and bright it looks.

Asbestos siding, as applied by the Atlanta Roofing Supply Company, is a very inexpensive and practical way to make that average home in which you live take on the "new look"—make it as attractive as any other home in your neighborhood.

Expertly applied directly over old sidewalls by trained mechanics, this siding requires no upkeep and it insulates the home in Winter and Summer. The siding has other features, too. It will not curl, it is termite proof, and it will not deteriorate.

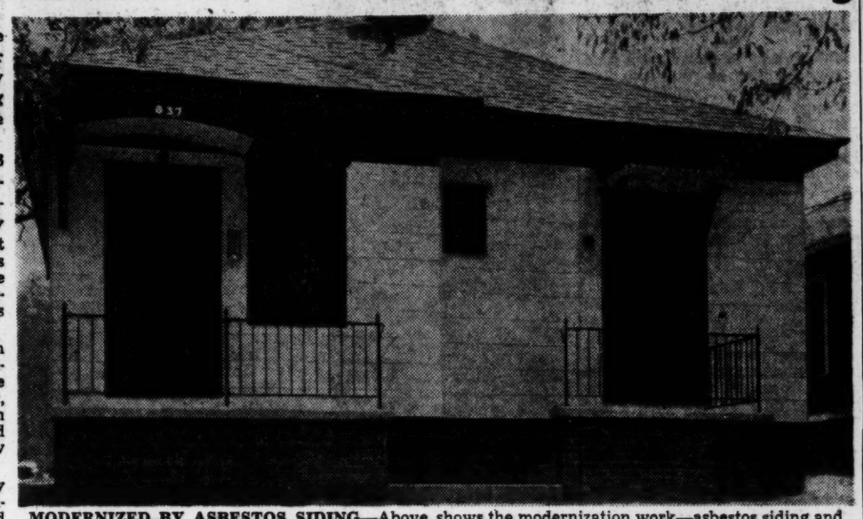
Along with the fireproof, weather proof and insect proof features of asbestos siding, the high insulating qualities reduce fuel costs during Winter by making homes secure against winds and drafts. These same qualities of the siding make homes cooler and more comfortable during hot weather, since the rays of the sun cannot easily penetrate the material's weather-resistant thickness. Call AT. 9727 and let a representative of this Company show you how a transformation can be made of your old home by applying asbestos siding all around over its outside. He will show you by illustration—by pictures made "before and after" jobs like this are done—that will convince you that you can make your old home look like practically new, give you an estimate on the cost, which will be very reasonable, guarantee the job for you, and give you long and easy terms on which to pay for it.

Over 6,000 patrons are listed on their books showing satisfactory siding used on their homes—or new roofs placed on their homes—or a combination of both.

An important feature that strengthens and adds security in the application of asbestos to your home by the Atlanta Roofing Supply Company is the fact that zinc corner fasteners are used, a distinct advantage over some other forms of application.

The Atlanta Roofing Suplly Company also handles composition roof shingles which it will apply to help with the complete refinishing of the outside of your home.

Complete satisfaction is assured by the competent staff of skilled experienced workmen employed by the Atlanta Roofing Supply Company in all its work, and careful attention is given to every job. Write the firm or call AT. 9727 for a free estimate.



MODERNIZED BY ASBESTOS SIDING—Above shows the modernization work—asbestos siding and a new roof—that was recently completed on the home of Miss Pearl Abernathy, 837 Techwood Dr., N. W., by the Atlanta Roofing Supply Company, 66 Fifth St., N. W. Call AT. 9727 and let a representative of this company show you how he can modernize the outside of your home with asbestos siding and a new roof, if you need one.

Indian Ocean Selected For Rocket Tryouts

SYDNEY, Australia — (UP) — Christmas Island in the Indian Ocean is to be at the receiving end of Australia's huge central desert rocket range.

The Australian and British governments will spend millions on an observation station, probably as closely guarded as the super-rocket flights from the Central Australia Woomera range, 2,000 miles away.

As experiments progress, rockets will flame across the Australian continent, across the Indian Ocean, to and even beyond the Christmas Island area.

Office Monopolized

SCHOHARIE, N. Y. — (UP — With the appointment of Miss Elizabeth D. Wright as clerk of this village, officials figured out that members of her family have filled the office for more than 40 years. Miss Wright also is village treasurer and collector. Her father and her brother had served in the same capacity.

U. S. Farm Population Found at New Low

DAVIS, Calif.—(UP) — When people used to talk about the "vanishing American" they were referring to the disappearing American Indian. Today the phrase more exactly refers to the American farmer.

Since mechanization hit the old homestead, agricultural population which in 1790 comprised 90 percent of the people in the country, dropped to 35 percent with the advent of the tractor, and is now at a low of 18 percent for the nation as a whole.

Facts brought out by a California Agricultural School engineer showed only 1,000 tractors on American farms in 1910; today there are 2,800,000.

Walkover Futile

WASECA, Minn.—(UP)—Frank Speight rolled up 1,252 votes unopposed for justice of the peace but the city council wouldn't declare him elected. It seems there isn't any such office under the city charter. City Attorney Franklin Stone said he'd have to investigate.

People Always Curious About the Weather

NEW YORK—(UP)An average of 46,500 persons call the New York Telephone Company's weather service each day to hear the recorded forecast. The calls reached their peak on last Aug. 26, when 179,530 calls were received about the 101 degree heat.

An analysis of the calls shows that there are more calls in Summer than in Winter, more on Friday than any other day and more between 4 and 5 p. m. than any other hour.

Cordele Girl Gets Award

SAVANNAH— (AP) — Miss Betty Bartlett, of Cordele, has been awarded the McCants scholarship to a library school, it was announced here yesterday.

The award, which has been given several years but which will be ended with the current award, is given to the person deemed to have shown the most interest in library work.

It was established by the late Mrs. B. F. Bullard, member of the Savannah Public Library Board for many years, in memory of Miss Mary McCants, who was a member of the local library staff for 25 years. The scholarship is open to anyone in Georgia.

Converted Hearse Serves

ALBANY, N. Y.—(UP)—New York State, with 64,000 miles of paved highways and some of the world's most elaborate parkways, still has 32 covered bridges, according to the State Commerce Department. When New York's first covered bridge was built is not known, but the oldest now standing dates from 1850.

John H. Harland Co. Retail Office Moves to New Location--101 Cone St.

New Location Much Larger Opens Today

Improved customer service, made difficult in the former "outgrown" location, is now a reality in new and more spacious quarters of the John H. Harland Company at 101 Cone St., NW., corner Poplar.

The retail office supply store occupies the first floor of the building with ample display space plus the Company's general and sales offices on the second floor. Business "better than usual" begins today at the new place.

Having long since expanded beyond the facilities of the old store, officials and sales personnel enthusiastically face the prospect of enhanced customer service and satisfaction. There is now more space for the display and demonstration of modern merchandise and more room for the buyer to shop in friendly comfort. Large storage quarters assure ample stocks for prompt delivery.

The John H. Harland Company maintains an up-to-the-minute manufacturing division at 419 Highland Avenue producing quality lithographing, steel engraving and printing. A check imprinting plant was opened last year in Orlando, Florida, on the occasion of the firm's Twenty Fifth Anniversary.

Greater customer service is the keynote of this expansion by one of Atlanta's more progressive retail and manufacturing firms.

Upside-Down Flag Creates Flurry

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(UP)—Old Glory had a topsy-turvy day at the Alabama State Capitol.

Mrs. May Harmon, capitol receptionist, thought someone was trying to play a joke on her when a telephone call informed her that the capitol flag was flying upside down. A few more rings convinced her something must be wrong.

The building attendant was sent to make matters aright. But another good-hearted soul, who had not seen the change, called with another report about the bottoms-up flag.

Up the dome steps the attendant went again. He followed his orders and reversed the flag's position.

There came another flood of calls, followed in turn by the attendant's third trip to the roof.

Old Glory was righted permanently.

Chas. S. Martin Co. Presents Leaders in Modern Air Circulation

In passing the Peachtree showrooms of Chas. S. Martin Distributing Company, thousands have been mystified by a brightly colored sphere, seemingly suspended in mid-air. Actually, the red and yellow globe is floating free of visible support, but no magic is involved. Holding it steadily aloft is the airstream of the revolutionary new Vornado, America's most modern development in air circulation.

The Vornado leads the parade of fans and ventilating equipment handled by dealers of the Chas. S. Martin Distributing Company, 250-256 Peachtree St., Atlanta. Other leading makes represented are Atlas Aire, Schwitzer Cummins, Silent Breeze, Knapp Monarch, Peerless, Kord, Ventrola, Binkley and Sprouse. The width of the Martin distributed range is the largest in the South, and makes available from one ready source the very latest in room air circulators, attic ventilators, portable window exhausts and intakes, kitchen exhausts, pedestal and conventional electric fans. Types for domestic, commercial and industrial use are stocked for immediate delivery.

This year, the brilliant Vornado comes in new models in every price range. They are styled to be at home in a mansion, are priced within reach of the cottage dweller. No other air circulator is like Vornado in appearance or performance. So different is it from other products in its field that a new name had to be created for it—"Vornado" being a combination of the words "Vortex" and "Tornado." This describes its powerful, far-reaching airstream pattern, which fills every corner of the room in which a Vornado is used with fresh, constantly moving air.

Chas. S. Martin calls attention to the Vornado's absolute safety. Though within reach of a child, it is harmless because of its unique, better design which makes it almost impossible to reach its well protected propeller blades. Scientific tests prove that Vornado outperforms conventional, old-style fans by 300 percent. For rooms, offices, stores, work-shops, large meeting halls, Vornado brings an utterly new type of summer comfort.

Atlas-Aire is the widely acclaimed portable window fan which makes possible complete kitchen ventilation at a new low cost. Installation is amazingly easy; no tools or screws necessary. Window may be opened or closed with the fan in place. Within a matter of moments all kitchen odors and fumes can be removed. Three-speed, very quiet motor. Many use Atlas Aire to cool and refresh as many as three average rooms.

For attic ventilation, the Silent Breeze and Schwitzer-Cummins are most effective. Kitchen exhaust fans are the Ventrola, Binkley and Sprouse. Newly styled conventionals by Knapp Monarch and pedestals by the other Martin lines complete the roster.

The various models may be purchased from retail dealers throughout Georgia. Dealers interested in handling them are asked to contact the Chas. S. Martin Distributing Company at once.

There Was No Bear, Just Gerry's Pony

STORDEN, Minn.—(UP)—Nine-year-old Gerry Thompson snickered when an armed band of 16 men set out to scour the countryside for a "bear" whose tracks had been spotted near the village.

He knew the "bear" tracks had been made in the snow by his crippled pony. The animal's peculiar walk left tracks that looked like a bear's.

The small army of men followed the tracks into the Thompson farmyard until they came upon the pony.

"Looking for a bear?" asked Gerry.

Homes Being Scarce, Settles for Nine Graves

TOKYO—(UP)—Wealthy Japanese, prevented from living in elaborate homes by the postwar housing shortage, are vying with each other for "exclusive" plots in which to be buried.

Some residents of Tokyo are bidding from 10,000 to 100,000 yen (about $25 to $250) for burial plots six feet square in the graveyard of the Kanei Temple in Tokyo because they can inter their dead relatives next to the Tokugawa Shoguns of Japan's feudal era.

Says Don't Burn Grass

AMHERST, Mass. — (UP) — Burning grass is just like sending money up in smoke, according to A. B. Beaumont of the Massachusetts soil conservation service. He estimates that $4 worth of valuable nitrogen is destroyed every time a ton of grass or leaves is burned.

Special Service Provided

DETROIT — (UP) — Premature babies born here have special ambulances to take them to hospitals. The ambulances, believed to be the first of their kind in the United States, have oxygen tanks and special ventilating equipment.

Hair-Setting Easy

GARY, Ind.—(UP)—An inventive husband who thought his wife spent too much time putting up her hair at night has patented a new gadget said to cut hair-setting time in half, according to the National Parent Council. The device is patterned after a miniature assembly line. It holds 40 bobby-pins which are pulled off the holder cartridge in rapid-fire order in the exact position for insertion into the hair.

3 Atlantans On Winning Bridge Team

By WHITNER CARY
Former Constitution Bridge Editor

A bridge team of three Atlanta men and a Birmingham woman last night won first place in the Georgia State Bridge Tournament at the Georgian Terrace Hotel.

The team of four champions scored 35 match points of a possible 56. Players were Jack Feagin, J. B. McConnell, Al Walton, of Atlanta, and Miss Eleanor Murdock, of Birmingham.

Taking second place with 34 match points was another Atlanta team composed of D. E. Beard, L. M. Loeb, J. P. Allen and John Brumbach.

The third-place team of Atlantans dropped from their leading place in the first session yesterday afternoon to come in with 31½ points. Mrs. E. B. Zachry, Mrs. Neil Conrad, Dr. Stephen Gernazian, Jack King and Whitner Cary were the players on this team.

Two life masters won the open pair championship Saturday night. William Christian, of Montgomery, and Mark Hodges, of Knoxville, continued their qualifying round leadership earlier to emerge victors with 334 points.

The second team of J. B. McConnell and John Darsey, of Atlanta, finished second with a score of 35½ points behind.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Teague, of Birmingham, with 292 points, finished third. Mrs. Margaret Wagar and Don Daniel, of Atlanta, with 285½ points, were fourth. Mrs. J. T. Daniel and Sydney Smith, of Atlanta, won fifth with 284 points.

The original field consisted of 104 players in the qualifying round, and dropped to 54 in the final event.

A. W. McWhorter and W. M. Davis, with 152½ points, walked off with the second flight composed of non-qualifiers. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Campbell, with 130½ points, took second.

Macon Dentist In Hospital Here

Dr. R. H. Murphy, widely known Macon dental specialist, was in "extremely critical" condition late last night in Ponce de Leon Infirmary here. Dr. Murphy was brought to Atlanta Saturday soon after he lodged a bone in his throat while eating steak.

A long time secretary of the Georgia Dental Association, Dr. Murphy is editor of the Journal of the Georgia Dental Association. He was head of the Georgia Dental Procurement and Assignment program during the war.

Georgia Judge Would Ship Reds

A Georgia Supreme Court Justice would load all Communists in a boat and ship them to Russia "before we wake up some morning to find them in power."

Judge Lee B. Wyatt, a former Nurenburg trials judge, told Alabama's annual Youth Legislature yesterday he would like to "make Henry Wallace pilot of that boat."

"There's a vast difference," the Judge said, "between free press, worship and speech, and letting Communists run around over the country admitting they're going to overthrow the government if they can."

'TRYING IT OUT'

Two Convicts Escape in Warden's Car

Two escaped convicts were still "trying out" a warden's car last night after they had calmly driven the automobile out of their work camp and made their dash for freedom.

The men, listed as James McKinney, 20, and R. H. Roberts, 46, escaped from a prison camp one mile from Morgan, Calhoun County, about 6:30 p. m. yesterday. Police trailed the men 14 miles to Arlington before they lost trace of them, according to Warden M. E. Strickland, of the Prison Camp.

Roberts, a mechanic, and McKinney had done some work on a maroon 1941 Plymouth sedan late yesterday and asked guards if they could drive it to the warden's house, some 300 yards away, to "try it out."

When they started the car, the warden reported, they turned in opposite direction from the house and "took off."

The State Patrol and sheriffs of all South Georgia counties were combing the area last night for the two escaped prisoners.

Youth-Aid Frat In 'Guide' Week

The twenty-seventh annual "Guide Right" week of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity (Negro) began yesterday "to meet the demand for adequate guidance in the lives of youths."

Designed to help boys, especially those of the graduating classes in (Negro) elementary schools, to decide on a course of study most adapted to their aptitudes and personalities the week is being devoted to counselling at various (Negro) city high schools, and lectures at Clark, Morris Brown and Morehouse Colleges.

Speakers include Dr. J. Jerome Peters, of the Veterans' Hospital at Tuskegee, Ala.; Dr. H. H. Walker, Professor of Minor Surgery and a member of the Board of Trustees at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. C. C. Spaulding, President of the North Carolina Mutual Insurance Company.

Stunt Flier Dies in Crash

JACKSON, Miss.—(UP)— Billy Fisher, 23 year-old stunt flier plunged to his death from 50 feet yesterday when the motor fell out of his plane while he was thrilling 20,000 fans at an air show.

Fisher, from Decorah, Iowa, was a performer with the Trans-American Air Shows. He was flying a souped up, lightweight plane which officials said was an experimental one.

Fisher had just completed an outside loop and swooped down to make a low run across the runway at Jackson Airport.

A motor support cracked, the propeller sneared through the wing and the engine dropped from the plane to skitter across the field.

Fisher tried to land the wildly slewing plane but it crashed and burned.

Three Atlantans Get New Homes

Three residents of the Atlanta area were presented new homes last night as Atlanta's National Home Show reached its climax.

Young Miss Mary Alice Baker, of 115 Womack Ave., East Point, was given Home No. One. The other two $7,000 homes went to Bernard P. Abrams, of 509 Boulevard, N. E., and Mrs. V. H. Brooks, of 279 Lake View Ave.

Infant Son Dies At Vaughan Home

George C. Vaughan, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vaughan, of 323 Carnegie Ave., East Point, died yesterday in a private hospital.

Graveside services will be held at 2 p. m. today at Dewey Rose Cemetery. The Rev. Walter Crawford will officiate.

Surviving, other than the parents, are one sister, Gloria Marie Vaughan; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hayes, of Elbest County, and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Vaughan, of Dewey Rose.

'WON'T TALK'

Mystery Surrounds Eye Injury

J. R. Lawrence, 533 Memorial Dr., S. E., yesterday was admitted to Grady Hospital for treatment of severe injuries to his right eye inflicted under mysterious circumstances early yesterday, police reported.

Grady physicians said Lawrence, suffering from a "penetrating injury" to his eye, may lose the eye.

Patrolmen R. E. Nickerson and R. J. Bradley said they found the man lying on the sidewalk on Currier Street between Peachtree and Courtland Streets.

The officers said he apparently had fallen from his automobile which was standing by the curb near where Lawrence was found. Nickerson and Bradley said the front seat was covered with blood and a small open knife was lying on the seat of the machine.

The officers said Lawrence told them he knew who injured him but he refused to tell them who it was.

Parade Points Importance of Clean-Up

Groundwork for Atlanta's twenty-second annual clean-up campaign started early this morning as employees of the City Sanitary Department manhandled heaps of discarded rubbish brought out on the streets by stores, housewives and citizens.

The campaign will be officially opened at 2 p. m. this afternoon when a parade including floats, bands, and City Sanitary Department equipment, will move down Peachtree Street. Riding in the parade will be Barrett L. Crandall, Executive Secretary of the National Council for Community Improvement, and Mrs. Mary Davis Gillies, originator of the Yardville idea of civic improvement.

A kick-off dinner for the drive to make Atlanta a cleaner city will be held tonight at the Atlanta Women's Club.

"Already the co-operation of local merchants and families in our campaign is showing results," according to Mrs. Lucille Huffman, President of the Women's Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the clean-up drive. "And," she said, "I know that Atlanta will be recognized again this year as one of the cleanest cities in the nation."

Mrs. Huffman pointed to the Inman Park Yardville project as a good example of what entire blocks co-operating already had accomplished. "The Sanitary Department informs me that they have had to assign extra forces to accommodate the clean-up drive in that community," she said.

Coplon Trial Starts Today

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Judith Coplon, petite brunet Justice Department worker accused of attempting to pass secret government papers to a Russian agent, is scheduled to go on trial here today.

Miss Coplon, 27, faces a charge here of copying and removing confidential documents "with intent and reason to believe the information was to be used to the injury of the United States and to the advantage of a foreign nation."

She also is under indictment in New York along with Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, suspended Soviet employee of the United Nations. They are charged with conspiring to obtain secret government data.

NEW LOOK

It isn't being trite to say Justice of the Peace F. F. Carter, of Murfreesboro, Ark., has a "new look." He really has. He has shaved off the mustache he has worn for 67 of his 88 years, and he's $10 richer, too. Courthouse employees passed the hat, collected that amount and "dared" Carter to shave it off. Carter took them up . . . Gen. Ludvik Svoboda, the Czech Minister of Defense and army chief, took off his uniform and decorations, put on blue overalls and dug coal. He was one of a brigade from the Ministry which went on a night shift to "dig coal for peace." . . . The "tapering look" is the newest thing in men's clothes, says the boss man of London's Bond Street tailors. H. G. Tayler, new President of the Federation of Clothing Designers, issued the decree, the while wearing the "tapering look" himself — gray double breasted with narrow lapels, narrow sleeves, narrow trouser bottoms.

DIFFERENT LOOK

A man who didn't know the chief of police from a horse was arrested in Lynn, Mass., for registering bets. Plainclothes Patrolman John. Silk said he went up to the man—Lawrence E. Montibello, 27—and said: "Put $2 on Healy in the seventh." "Healey" is Police Chief John F. Healy. . . . Retired Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault said in Honolulu if his wartime Flying Tigers were revived they could turn the tide for Nationalist China. "But under the circumstances," he said, "I see little chance of reviving them." . . . Former Rep. Charles M. LaFollette, Republican, Indiana, says the United States must support a strong central government for Western Germany if democracy is to flourish there. . . . J. N. "Ding" Darling, 72, for many years one of America's leading cartoonists, has decided to give up regular cartoon production. Darling, who signed his nickname "Ding" to his drawings, has been a staff cartoonist for the Des Moines Register and Tribune Since 1906.

RECOGNITION

Two educators and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, will receive the Roosevelt Distinguished Service Medals for 1948. The awards are made annually for distinguished service in fields associated with the career of Theodore Roosevelt. Besides Vandenberg, they will go to Dr. James Bryant Conant, President of Harvard University, and Mrs. Rustin McIntosh, Dean of Barnard College, New York City. . . . Prince Aly Kahn and Rita Hayworth hope to be married in about three weeks, but have not set a definite date. Aly and his actress fiancee are staying at his chateau near Cannes. Jasper Gets $490,000 Loan

The Rural Electrification Administration in Washington, D. C., has granted the Amicalola Electric Membership Corporation at Jasper a $490,000 REA loan. The funds will be used for improvements and expansion of power facilities in rural areas of Pickens County.

Annual Ball Starts

Gov. Talmadge will be the principal speaker at the first in a series of Annual Military Balls sponsored by the Georgia National Guard. This first ball will be held Saturday night in the City Auditorium at Macon. More than 4,000 persons are expected to attend the affair. Glen Gray and his Casa Loma Orchestra will furnish the music for the event. Pretty Julie O'Brien is the featured vocalist with the band.

A Quick Venture

The beer business was a quick venture for H. L. Holloway, of Albany.

Holloway, seeking refund of a $100 beer license fee from that city, wrote commissioners that he opened and closed his business within three days. He explained that he left an attendant with his beer while he made a trip, and when he returned the beer and the attendant had disappeared. "I don't know whether he drank it or sold it," Holloway lamented.

Albany voted to refund the license fee.

Around the State

Dr. Gail L. Carver, Professor of Biology at Mercer University in Macon and Education Chairman of the Southern States Forest Fire Commission, Inc., will speak at the annual convention today in Hot Springs, Ark. . . . Two Georgia cities are poised for outstanding floral events this week. The twenty-eighth annual Thomasville Rose Festival will be held in that city Friday and Saturday, while the First Annual Flower Fiesta is scheduled Wednesday at Jesup. . . . The Rev. S. Wilkes Dendy, Pastor of the Dalton First Presbyterian Church, will receive an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., May 30.

End of the Rope

Charles R. Brumby, Cedartown's genial postmaster, is displaying an extraordinary souvenir—a piece of rope from Japan.

The five-inch-long rope is a part of the noose which was used to hang Hideki Tojo, Jap war criminal.

The souvenir was sent to the Georgia postmaster by his son, Lt. Col. Sewell Brumby, who is Assistant Deputy Provost Marshal of Yokohama, Japan.

Injuries Prove Fatal

Ocie Bass, 35-year-old Negro, died yesterday from head injuries he received late Saturday night in a fall from a porch at 44 Maple St. Residents of the house told police Bass went to the porch to get some air. They were unable to explain how he fell from the porch.

Arrest Two Boys

Two 18-year-old Atlanta boys yesterday were being held on charges of suspicion of larceny in connection with the alleged theft of automobile accessories from a Ponce de Leon Avenue parking lot. Det. Sgt. I. A. Thomas and Det. J. B. Connor said they found the youths roaming about the parking lot Saturday night during a ball game at Ponce de Leon Park. The officers said the youths admitted taking accessories from automobiles in the lot. The officers said an assortment of accessories was recovered at the home of one of the boys. The arrested youths were listed as Don Gene Guthrie, of 591 Parkway Dr., N. E., and Hoyt Blalock, of 558 Highland Ave., N. E.

Bandit Routed

A 34-year-old Negro man identified as Theo Caldwell, of 119 Stanford St., S. W., yesterday was credited with frustrating a bandit in an attempt to rob another Negro man on Hunter Street. Police said Caldwell, walking along the street, happened up on the holdup attempt. Sizing up the situation, Caldwell stepped up to the bandit, seized him, disarmed him and put him to flight. The victim, Gilbert Robinson, of 563 Tattnall St., S. W., could give no description of the bandit.

WORLD'S LARGEST?

Reds Building Mammoth Telescope

LONDON—(AP)—Russia claimed yesterday to be building the world's largest reflecting telescope.

The report, broadcast by Moscow radio, did not give the size of the reflecting mirror. Presently the world's biggest telescope is in California. It has a 200-inch mirror.

The Russian instrument has an aperture of one meter (39.37 inches) the report said. Apertures vary in celestial telescopes, depending on whether high magnification or high light gathering power is desired. The 100-inch Mount Wilson telescope has a 100-inch aperture.

The radio report said the new Russian instrument will be installed on the southern slopes of Mount Alaghez in Armenia.

Roberta School Head Is Presented Gift

ROBERTA—At the last meeting of the local P-TA Chapter, Prof. W. H. Fargason, who has resigned after serving nine years as Superintendent of the Crawford County High School here, was presented a handsome watch chain by the group.

Prof. Fargason goes to Fayetteville to head the city school system there.

Under his leadership, the school here has made much progress.

HOPE FOR SIGHT

Twin Boys Fly to N. Y. Eye Doctors

NEW YORK—(UP)—Denny and Kenny Hoffman, seven-month-old twins who were born two-and-a-half months prematurely and now are blind, were flown here from their New Orleans home yesterday with the hope New York eye specialists could give them sight.

Two former Air Force pilots, Rudolph Spremich, 30, and Robert Jaycoxe, 32, flew the twins here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Hoffman, in Spremich's private, 14-passenger Lockheed Lodestar. The plane landed at the Teterboro, N. J., airport. The twins were carried from the plane wrapped in blankets.

It was the Hoffmans' hope that surgeons of the Institute of Opthalmology of the Presbyterian Hospital would be able to cure the rare malady from which the twins are suffering.

Southern Bell Telephone employees at New Orleans raised $1,156 to pay for treatment of the blind twins. Their father, Andrew Hoffman, is an installer for Southern Bell there.

States' Jobless Pay Up During First 3 Months

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Federal Security Agency announced yesterday the state governments paid out $371,421,000 in unemployment insurance during the first three months of the year. This compares with $196,512,000 in the same period of last year.

Payments this year have run as follows: January, more than $103,000,000; February, more than $115,000,000; March, more than $152,000,000.

This trend reflects growth of unemployment among nonagricultural workers.

But the agency also reported job placements of workers in nonagricultural industry increased in March for the first time since last November. These placements totaled 327,328, a rise of 18.7 percent over February.

Polish Catholics Told to Ignore Jabs at Priests

WARSAW — (AP) — The Roman Catholic hierarchy told Poland's millions of Catholics yesterday to ignore attacks on priests as carried in the controlled press of the Communist-led government.

A strongly-worded pastoral letter deplored that "so many members of the clergy have lost their liberty." It said "we bishops have been unable to find out what they are accused of or to see them, but we have every confidence in their righteousness."

The letter advised Catholics to ignore "ridiculous" charges that priests were enemies of the state and engaged in anti-state activities.

Last month the Rev. Josef Danson, a Catholic priest, was sentenced in Lodz to four years' imprisonment on charges of using his pulpit to spread "hostile and false news slandering the national administration of Communist-dominated Poland."

Vet Preference Restudy Asked

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A study released by the Brookings Institution called on Congress yesterday to re-examine the 1944 law which gave war veterans preference for Government jobs.

It said the statute has "fouled and stalled the whole delicate machinery" set up by the Civil Service Commission to put Federal employment strictly on a merit basis.

Despite its "obvious laudable intention," the study said, the law has required the Commission to reward veterans by "falsely equating patriotic service with special ability." The result, it added, "has been much like that of a handful of sand in a gear box."

Killed Boy, 8, Ex-Convict Is Quoted

NEW YORK—(AP)—A 36-year-old ex-convict, released from prison less than three weeks ago, has been charged with the strangulation slaying of eight-year-old Jackie Goldsmith in a Bronx amusement park.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Breslin said John Saiu, once cleared of the slaying, admitted he killed the blue-eyed boy while the youngster was on a fishing trip 10 days ago.

Jackie's body, garroted with his own red cowboy belt, was found behind a tank in a swimming pool at deserted Starlight Park. A medical examiner said an autopsy showed the boy was the victim of a sex attack.

The district attorney's office said Saiu, although admitting the slaying, denied sexual perversion figured in the case and claimed he killed Jackie after an argument.

URGED BY MARY, NANCY HAS GONE TO MARGO'S STUDIO TO END THEIR FEUD...
AND OUTSIDE IN THE HALL AT THIS MOMENT
THE WAY I FELT ABOUT YOU IS ALREADY FILED UNDER FINISHED BUSINESS, TOM, AND I'LL FIND A SUBSTITUTE FOR YOU SOME DAY! BUT NANCY'S A ONE-LOVE-PER-LIFETIME GAL--SO PUT THE BLAME ON ME AND PATCH THINGS UP WITH HER!
NOW, LET'S GET TO WORK!
NOT TILL I TELL YOU HOW WONDERFUL YOU ARE, MARGO!

SMITTY

GEE! WHAT A CHANCE!!
YOU BET! GEORGE, THE INDIAN GUIDE, SAYS WE SHOULD COME RIGHT AWAY
HE SAYS LITTLE MOOSE IS GONE AND THIS IS OUR BIG CHANCE TO CATCH THE BIG FISH, OLD FIGHTER
HA! HE DOESN'T KNOW LITTLE MOOSE IS HERE WITH US!!
O'BOY! WHAT A DEAL!
RIGHT! ALL WE'VE GOT TO DO NOW IS SLIP AWAY FROM OUR LITTLE INDIAN FRIEND

MR. HOGAN, SNOW FLOWER SPEAKS THE LANGUAGE OF THIS AREA!
YOU HAVE A POINT THERE, REEDY KIMBERLY!..OKAY! THE NATIVE BIMBO GOES ALONG—AT LEAST 'TIL WE KNOW THE SCORE!
WE'RE IN A TIGHT VALLEY, WITH REBEL TROOPS PROBABLY ON EITHER RIM—BUT THEY DON'T KNOW FOR CERTAIN THAT WE CAME THROUGH THE TUNNEL FROM DAMMA!
WHEN THE HISTORY OF MY PEOPLE IS WRITTEN, IT WILL BE SAID THAT I DESERTED IN THE FACE OF AN ENEMY!
WILL YOU LAY OFF THAT PITCH ABOUT BEING A PRINCESS? I CAN'T STAND DAMES WITH DELUSIONS OF GRANDEUR!
MR. HOGAN, I GUESS YOU AND I WILL HAVE TO FIGHT ABOUT WHAT YOU JUST SAID TO SNOW FLOWER!

THE GUMPS

IT'S ALMOST TIME FOR DADDY TO COME HOME FROM WORK. LET'S MEET HIM AT THE CORNER.
HELLO, DADDY—HOW ARE YOU, DADDY?
FINE, BOYS, JUST FINE.
LET'S WRESTLE, DADDY—
WHY DO FISHES LIVE IN WATER, DADDY?
GIVE US PICKABACKS, DADDY!
LET'S HAVE A RACE, DADDY!
HELLO, DEAR, HOW ARE YOU?
EXHAUSTED

FUNNYMAN

HERE ARE THE COPS NOW! DISTURB THE PEACE AND QUIET OF MY HOME, WILL YOU!
DISMISS THEM, PLEASE! I APOLOGIZE FOR EVERYTHING.... I ASSURE YOU THAT THERE WILL BE NO FURTHER TROUBLE!
I DEMAND AN EXPLANATION! YOU HID YOUR MIDGET FATHER TILL WE DISCOVERED HIM LIVING IN YOUR BUREAU DRAWER--THEN, WHEN COUNTESS DE BULGE BARGED IN AND STARTED A PIER SIX BRAWL...
WHY, YOU!..
OW!
HOW DARE YOU STRIKE MY LITTLE MILO, YOU BRUTE!
THIS'LL TEACH YOU NOT TO BE DISRESPECTFUL TO THE WOMAN I LOVE!

HAROLD TEEN

ARE YOU DRUNK?
SGT. HARRIGAN! HURRY TO MESSY MAXIE'S! FUNNYMAN IS TANGLING WITH NUMBSKULL!
?!

TODAY IN RADIO

Patrice Munsel Sings Herbert Works on WCON

By RITA VAN PELT

Patrice Munsel, recently heard and acclaimed in Atlanta, will be heard singing the leading role in one of Victor Herbert's most unforgettable masterpieces, "The Fortune Teller," tonight at 8 o'clock on WCON-ABC.

The operetta, a presentation of The Railroad Hour, brings to the air Herbert's musical imagination at its most colorful and charming peak. Included in the score are some of his most haunting melodies, including "Gypsy Sweetheart," "Romany Life," "Always Do as People Say You Should," "Entrance of the Count," and "Lilly and the Nightingale."—A "don't miss" for tonight!

Piano Playhouse

Ted Straeter, the man who got his first job with Irving Berlin in Tin Pan Alley, was a prodigy pianist known in vaudeville as "the two-year-old wonder," and who today is a bandleader and pianist, will be featured on WCON-ABC's Piano Playhouse tonight at 10.

McGuire as 'Lady'

Movie star Dorothy McGuire will star in "Lady on a Mission," a Calvacade of America presentation slated for WSB-NBC tonight at 8. As the wife of James Monroe, the 1794 American Ambassador to France, she will recreate the terror of the Revolution and the bravery of a woman who risked her life to save another from the guillotine.

Grable, Daily Co-Star

Those who saw "When My Baby Smiles at Me" with Betty Grable and Dan Dailey, and those who didn't, will have an opportunity to hear the screen stars in a radio adaptation of the musical comedy on WAGA-CBS tonight at 9. It's a Lux Radio Theater broadcast.

Bride and Groom

The sudden crash of a baseball through the windshield of one's car is a strange and rather dangerous way to meet one's future ball-and-chain, but at least it might prepare one for what was to come. . . . The story of such a first meeting will be related by a couple who plan to merge for better or worse on the WCON-ABC Bride and Groom program this p. m. at 2:30.

DICK TRACY TERRY WINNIE WINKLE MOON MULLINS THE SAINT SMILIN' JACK ORPHAN ANNIE KAY'S GASOLINE ALLEY

ALL RIGHT, BOY, YOU'VE GOT WORK TO DO.
SO THIS IS HIS WILL!
Jewels, which I bequeath to the worst, a million bastards are buried not far from my home. Will dig them up for you, if you will repeat the word "Earth" to him. —John
A MILLION DOLLARS' WORTH OF JEWELS! WOW! EITHER THAT OLD MAN WAS A GREAT JOKESTER—OR WE'RE IN FOR THE BIGGEST CASE OF OUR LIVES, SAM.
THERE'S NO DOG HERE, PEAR-SHAPE. WE DIDN'T NEED THE GAS—AND I CAN HARDLY SEE THROUGH THIS MASK.
SH-SH? I HEARD A CAR!
I LOVE A DUCK! WHERE'S THE COVE WHAT HACCUSED YOU GENTS OF DRUG SMUGGLIN'?
NEWS FOR YOU, COPPER. WHILE YOU WERE BUSY SEARCHING THE PLANE FOR CONTRABAND, TESK AND THE BABE MUST HAVE FADED.
NOW 'ERE'S A RUM TRICK! THEY CAWN'T LEAVE THE FIELD WITHOUT GOIN' THROUGH CUSTOMS, Y' KNOW.
I DON'T GET IT! THEIR BAGGAGE IS STILL HERE.
IF THESE QUEER ONES 'AVE TRIED TO SNEAK ORF, THE CHAPS AT THE GATE'LL BE 'OLDIN' 'EM. LET'S GO. I'LL 'AVE A TALK WITH THAT PAIR.
MEANWHILE, ON THE ROAD FROM THE AIRPORT
TESK, I'M FRIGHTENED! THESE TRICKS WILL PUT THE POLICE ON OUR TRAIL.
NONSENSE!...IF YOU WON'T TRUST MR. FEATHER, REGENT, I'LL WASH MY HANDS OF THE AFFAIR.
S3519
OVER THE RIVER AN' THROUGH THE WOODS TO GRANDMOTHER'S HOUSE WE GO...
GO!! GO ON. BEAT IT - AN' DON'T COME BACK!
OKAY, RIP WINKLE, BUT YOU'LL GET NO MORE CREDIT AT MY STORE!
PUTTIN' UP A BIG FRONT IN YER FANCY HOUSE AN' NEVER PAYIN' YER BILLS!
SHUT YER BIG MEALY MOUTH-YA HIGHWAY ROBBER! CHISELER!! CROOK!
WELL, WELL—ME TWO LITTLE DARLINS COME TO SEE THEIR POOR OL' GRAN'PA!
OH-OH-THAT CAR'S BEEN ON MY TAIL FOR TH' LAST FIVE MILES.
WILLIE TOLD ME NEVER TO WEAR THESE JEWELS OUT OF TH' HOUSE—WELL, WATCH ME SHAKE THEM THUGS.
"45 MILES AN HOUR"—OH, GEE! WOTTA RELIEF.
WE AIN'T LOOKIN' FOR TROUBLE. WE'RE JUST BORROWIN' THE COLONEL'S PRIVATE AIRPORT TO LAND A LITTLE HOT STUFF FROM CUBA. BUT IF ANYBODY WANTS TO START ANYTHING, I CAN FINISH IT.
IT DOESN'T SEEM REAL, SAINT.
PERSONALLY I THINK EDWARD G. ROBINSON DOES IT BETTER, BUT MAYBE HE GETS MORE REHEARSAL.
I WONDER IF HE'S BLUFFING ABOUT HAVING A THIRD MAN TAKING CARE OF THE SERVANTS?
DON'T KID YOURSELF, BOY SCOUT. HE'S LOCKIN' 'EM IN THE CELLAR RIGHT NOW. HE AIN'T BRIGHT, BUT HE DOES THINGS LIKE THAT JUST NATURAL.
THEN MAYBE WE'D BETTER NOT WAIT FOR HIM.
SABLE HONEY, I'M GLAD TO HEAR THAT HOT-ROD HAS A GIRL FRIEND... MAYBE A GOOD GIRL CAN HELP US MAKE A MAN OUT OF HIM.
I HOPE SHE'S NICE... HOT-ROD HASN'T TOLD ME WHO SHE IS YET, JACK!
HOT-ROD, YOU'RE A GREAT DRIVER! I OWN A FEW HOT-RODS MYSELF... I'D LIKE TO ENTER ONE IN A HOT-ROD RACE IF YOU'LL BE MY DRIVER!

Islanders' Trading Teaches Barter Lesson

MONDAY, APRIL 25, 1949

Suggestion of the day: Call President Burgess, of Reinhardt College, Waleska, by phone and ask him what you can do to help. You may have the very implement needed to complete the equipment for the field day on May 18. "Many a mickle makes a muckle!"

YAP MONEY ALWAYS GOOD

In Life magazine's current issue is an interesting set of color pictures concerning islands in the South Pacific and among them is a scene showing two natives carrying the native money about on the Isle of Yap. The money looks like huge pieces of stone, as indeed they are.

The intriguing part of the picture lies in the conversation of one of the native chiefs. Told that U. S. money is now legal tender in Yap, a chief remarked, "First Spanish money no good, then German money no good, now Japanese money no good. Yap money always good." (Money is good as long as people have confidence in it.)

It occurred to me that countrymen still do a lot of trading with things other than the recognized coin of the realm. All last Summer we traded okra and beans for various items we required. A few weeks ago, we traded half a hog for half a hog to be delivlivered later, neither of us asking anything about the price.

We have a friend who pays for the labor of twice daily milking by sharing the milk; another friend who shares his garden with several families, each of whom does some work in it.

Swapping sericea seed for corn is the practice of another friend.

I have never known a time here on the Yellow River when folks didn't trade eggs and chickens and even cattle and mules. A malk-fat dealer has been known to bring several months' labor to the benefit of both parties.

The war taught us that a pocket full of money did not necessarily mean food on the table; not the kind we wanted, anyway. The farmer learned that he had the first whack at the food supply and that this fact was important.

"Flick the switch to fifty-five; the day at once becomes alive."

Yessir, there'll be Les Henrikson at 5:30 and then we'uns at 6. We pop in again at 12:45 if invited. Until then,

A LOTTA LUPINE—W. O. Bedenbaugh, left, farmer, and PMA Director Jack Cartee, are shown standing almost head deep in the new super blue lupine now being grown in Dougherty County. The crop is not only saving the soil, but is fast becoming a new cash crop for that county as there is a large market for the clover seed.

Dougherty Gets 'Dough' From New Super Lupine

Constitution State News Service

ALBANY—A "super" type of blue lupine, measuring six feet in height on many acres, is being grown in Dougherty County. Not only is the stand of lupine, which all told covers 250 acres, outstanding from a growth standpoint, but its owners are making a cash crop out of it.

The lupine averages about five feet in height, and the Bedenbaugh brothers, W. O. and T. H., of Albany, aided by T. H. Paschal, Jr., expect to combine between 100 and 150 tons of seed. They expect a market price of at least $13,500.

"We looked at it this way," said W. O. Bedenbaugh: "Lupine seed has been scarce in this section. We had a large acreage of land that needed building up, much of it with pecan trees standing, and we started lupine planting. We saw the lupine grew exceedingly well and we started harvesting some for seed. The rest we turned under. We had such success that we decided to purchase a combine and make some farm expenses by harvesting seed. It has worked beautifully.

Farmers and agricultural leaders of Dougherty County view the vast, rolling acreage of healthy lupine in amazement. The Bedenbaughs plant the seed at staggered dates, in order to harvest sufficiently before all the seeds have ripened at the same time.

Once the seeds start ripening they must be combined without delay. The stalks are cut off a foot or so above the earth. The plants are spread in buildings on the farm to dry, and "worked," or turned, occasionally to allow proper ventilation Great care must be taken, as a few bad seed can spoil a large amount.

Planting of the seeds on the Bedenbaugh farm is started about the first week in October, with about 75 pounds of th seed to an acre. All seed that is not sold on the open market can be sold to the Production Marketing Administration, but the Bedenbaugh brothers are not worried about a market.

They figure they can sell all the seed they harvest — and that's a lot of seed!

Dairy Course Planned Here Wednesday

ATHENS—Two members of the University of Georgia faculty, one an expert in the dairying field and the other an authority on accounting procedures, will participate in a one-day short course on dairy bookkeeping at the University's Atlanta Division Wednesday.

Representatives from dairy plants throughout Georgia and surrounding states will gather in Atlanta on that date to hear lectures and participate in panel discussions on the values and techniques of maintaining accurate accounting records in their business.

H. B. Henderson, head of the dairy department, University of Georgia, will preside at the morning session, which will include a welcoming address by Dr. George M. Sparks, director of the Atlanta Division, and several addresses on accounting in milk plants.

John F. Burke, CPA, associate professor of business administration at the University of Georgia, will speak to the group on "Why Accounting Records?"

The short course will feature an address, "Simplified Accounting Methods and Practices." by Edward B. McClain, accountant to the Milk Industry Foundation, Chicago, Ill. His address will cover the installation of modern accounting methods to fit the requirements of milk dealers, inauguration of simplified methods to determine accurate cost information, technique of periodical cost computation, and development of a simplified plan of control of plant and route accounting.

Others who will participate in the day's program are John W. Taliaferro, Atlanta accountant; James E. Jackson, executive director, Georgia Dairy Association; Colin Campbell, Southern Dairies, Atlanta; Sanford E. Leake, Happy Valley Farms, Rossville, and J. O. Williford, Atlanta Dairies Cooperative.

Truck Crops Move to Market

VALDOSTA—(AP)—Snap beans and squash trickled into the State farmers' market preparatory to expected heavier movements of these vegetables this week.

The demand is slow for beans, selling at $2.50 to $2.75 per hamper, and for squash, bringing from $1.75 to $2.25 a hamper, the market reports.

Cabbage, bringing from 40 cents to 60 cents a bag, are plentiful and the demand is "just dragging" it was reported.

Plant shipments have been curtailed because of difficulty in gathering them occasioned by rain in this section and the retarded demand for them in the north due to the recent cold and rainy weather there. However, the Railway Express Agency reports shipments of tomato, potato, pepper, cabbage and some onion plants during the past week.

Farmers Begin Peanut Planting

Constitution State News Service

SANDERSVILLE — Farmers in Washington County have begun planting peanuts. The acreage allotment has been reduced to 6,600 acres, a reduction of about one-fourth over the bumper crops of the past five years.

North Georgia Communities To Enter Tennessee Contest

Constitution State News Service

ATHENS—Around 25 farm communities in six North Georgia counties are expected to participate in the Chattanooga Area Community Improvement Contest this year, W. A. King, State Extension Service economist in farm management, announces.

The contest is being sponsored by a number of civic organizations in Chattanooga. In addition to the entries from Walker, Dade, Whitfield, Catoosa, Chattooga and Gordon Counties in Georgia, it will include communities in 12 counties in Tennessee and three counties in Alabama.

First prize in the contest will be $500. Entries will be judged on the basis of home food supplies, development and improvement of sound systems of farming, development and improvement of appearance, convenience and comfort of homes and farms and community development and organization in relation to social, educational, economic and religious activities.

Around 200 community leaders from a large number of counties entering this year's contest have already held a meeting in Kensington Community, Walker County, to study improvements made there last year. Kensington was first place winner in last year's contest.

Some of the winning activities which the visitors studied and observed at the meeting included Kensington's purebred Hereford cattle program, improved pastures, home improvements and the work done to the church and community house.

According to King, first place winners compete only with other winners for a special prize for five years after winning the improvement contest.

Truck Crops In Good Shape

Constitution State News Service

ATHENS—Cool weather has retarded growth of some truck crops in the State, but not to any great extent, while cool nights have benefited two crops—lettuce and cabbage, the Crop Reporting Service says here.

Lettuce and cabbage are being harvested in coastal and other South Georgia areas, the report says, the cabbage season having passed its peak, with cutting of late plantings expected to continue through April. Yields and quality have been good, but oversupply brought unsatisfactory prices part of the sale season.

Lettuce cutting is well underway with satisfactory prices and yields; South Georgia Irish potatoes are expected to be harvested about May 15-20 on 1,100 acres. A heavy increase is expected in pimiento pepper acreage, with the South Georgia setting all out but in Central and North Georgia, plants will be put in the fields until around May 1.

Tomato setting has been finished and fields are looking good, the report, issued by L. H. Harris, Jr., Truck Crop Estimator for the Reporting Service, says.

Alpharetta Man Buys Prize Bull

Special to The Constitution

COLUMBUS, Ohio — W. Truitt Moss, of Alpharetta, Ga., has purchased the registered Jersey bull, Sparkling Cinda Sir. The animal comes from the herd owned by S. E. Bagley, of Alpharetta.

The purchase adds to the steadily growing number in this area. Dairymen buy Jerseys because of the high quality of the milk they produce.

Purebred Jerseys are registered by the American Jersey Cattle Club which has its national headquarters in Columbus, Ohio. Several programs are available through the American Jersey Cattle Club to help breeders get the most profit from their Jerseys.

Crop Conditions Improve in Jefferson

Constitution State News Service

LOUISVILLE — Farm work in Jefferson county has progressed considerably under very favorable conditions. Much planting, some replanting, and some cultivation have been done and the prospects at the close of the week were more encouraging than they were a week ago, when the temperature was around the frost or freezing point.

Light showers fell recently and these followed by a rising temperature indicates that now there will be some crop-growing weather.

MAMMOTH 1-DAY MAKEOVER

Soil Conservation Group To Bestow 'Master's Degree' on Reinhardt College

Constitution State News Service

WALESKA—Reinhardt College, a school which has awarded many degrees to deserving students since its founding in 1883, will be on the receiving end May 18, when the Soil Conservation Service, co-operating with the Limestone Valley Soil Conservation Supervisors, bestow their own kind of "Master's Degree" on the 500-acre school farm.

The non-academic degree in soil conservation and land utilization to be awarded the Methodist supported school will take place at what is predicted to be one of the largest Master Farm Demonstrations ever held in the Southeast, and the first such project ever attempted over the rolling, almost mountainous land of Northwest Georgia.

Some 1,000 volunteer workers, plus hundreds of pieces of farm machinery and equipment, will tackle the job of remodeling the farm which has provided many Georgia boys and girls their only opportunity for a college education.

"It seems only just," says Dr. J. E. Burgess, school President, "that we are working for the land that for 66 years has worked for the youth of our State."

The one-day project will result in a change from cultivated crops to grass farming, or livestock farming, treating every acre to its needs, putting every acre to its best use, and establishing a program which will conserve and increase the fertility of the soil.

The college farm propers consists of some 500 acres, a good portion of which is in timber and will remain in timber because of its slope. Approximately 35 acres, however, will be cleared and developed into pastures and plots for rotating crops.

Soil conservation practices that will be established on the college farm during the demonstration include: 20 acres lespedeza sericea that will be used for hay, seed production, grazing, soil conserving and soil building; 43 acres established to kudzu; 24 acres established to permanent pasture; 16 acres to Kentucky 31 fescue grass; 10 acres drained; 31 acres terraced according to Soil Conservation Service specifications on terrace construction; four acres planted to wildlife border strips; rotations established on 32 acres of woodland; stream channel clearing will be done on one half mile of stream that flows through the college farm. A two-acre fish pond will also be constructed.

The soil conservation program that will be applied on the land during the demonstration will develop this farm for a successful livestock program. The only row crops that will be grown following the demonstration will be to produce food for the student's dining hall.

A complete grazing program will be established that will support a dairy, beef, and swine herds which will place the college farm on a "live-at-home" basis. A large acreage of woodland will be handled under management practices which will consist of fire control, selective cutting and marketing of timber products.

Other projects include grading an athletic field, construction of six miles of fencing, erection of a small machinery shed, a 5,000 capacity broiler house, a 500 bushel electrically heated potato curing house, and a four-room pre-fabricated dwelling house.

The project is being sponsored by the Supervisors of the Limestone Valley Soil Conservation District, U. S. Soil Conservation Service; Trustees of Reinhardt College; all civic clubs of Cherokee County, and The Atlanta Constitution.

Pecan Producers Predict Profits Will Pass Peak Season of 1948

By DON KIMSEY
Constitution State News Service

ALBANY—Words of cheer are sweeping through this vast pecan-producing section, it was learned yesterday.

The experts predict a good crop. And what's more important the prestige and cash it will bring the pecan market.

The words come directly from the men who should know. Pathologist John Cole and Soil Technician J. H. Hunter, of the U. S. Pecan Culture and Disease Laboratory here—both experts in their profession.

They explained the pecan situation this way:

The 1948 crop was a "bumper." Pecans came pouring in, almost in an unprecedented amount—44,000,000 pounds for the State in fact. But the nuts, much to the consternation of the farmers and the entire pecan market, were of poor quality. Prices soared downward.

But this year the nuts, according to early surveys, will be of good quality in most counties. The price is expected to be good—this, too, according to "early" predictions. The crop for Georgia may not be half as much in poundage as last year, probably around 20,000,000 pounds, but the growers and others of the trade possibly will realize more financially.

Pecan growing is not as simple as it sounds. There are many problems.

For instance, the weather at this time is ideal for "scab," and growers have been urged to spray for the dreaded disease. This takes time, money and equipment. Insects have to be watched also. In some orchards as much as 25 per cent of the foliage has been affected by the disease.

"We'll have the pecans this year, all right," said Cole, "more than we thought we would have last year. And we hope they will be good. Indications are they will be."

One reason for the prediction of a good crop, the experts said, is that "the care of the orchards in this area is showing up." They said had it not been for such care during the last few years, the picture might have been different. The trees in well drained, deep soil are showing up particularly good, soil expert Hunter stated.

The Albany laboratory made a survey of pecan trees from Fort Valley south to Monticello, Fla. It was found that the nut crop will be lighter south of Albany than anywhere else because of loss of foliage from insects and diseases.

The condition of the trees of the various types of nuts, in well-kept orchards, was listed as follows:

Schley: Fair to good bloom except in orchards where weather prevented growers from keeping foliage in good condition into the Fall of last year.

Stuart: Not sufficiently advanced in growth to tell about bloom development. In general the tree condition does not indicate a good crop in the Albany area and to the south of Albany. Prospects are better north and west of Albany.

Moneymaker: Generally poor in the Albany area and in the area south of Albany.

Moore: Fair to good crop prospects except in orchards where disease and insect attacks in 1948 caused extensive damage, causing trees to lose leaves in mid-Summer.

Other varieties such as Mobile, Teche, Van Deman, Success and Frostcher appear to be blooming well where the trees had good foliage into the Fall of 1948. The area showing the poorest crop condition includes parts of Dougherty, Mitchell, Thomas and Grady Counties in Georgia, and Jefferson County in Florida. In general, this area coincides with the area suffering extensive flood damage during the first week of April, 1948.

Observe Mail Box Week, Wingate Urges Farmers

Constitution State News Service

MACON—H. L. Wingate, President of the Georgia Farm Bureau Federation, has called on farm people of the State to give full co-operation to the observance of Rural Mail Box Improvement Week May 1-7.

The Post Office Department has prescribed regulations governing the delivery of mail to more than 30,000,000 rural Americans, he stated, "and it is very necessary that these rules be observed to expedite the service rendered by the nation's 32,000 rural letter carriers."

The Georgia Farm Bureau official who has worked closely with the Rural Letter Carriers Association, stated that "Farm people of the state, a great majority of whom are served by rural mail carriers, are ever on the alert to provide every convenience needed to improve the service on the part of the patron." He listed minimum requirements of the Post Office Department as:

"The post for your box should be painted white. Your box should be painted with either white or aluminum paint and your name inscribed on the box in neat black letters about one inch in height."

Wingate served as postmaster of his home town of Pelham for a number of years.

Acre Yield Gain Urged on Farmers

ALBANY—(AP) — Russell Coleman, President of the National Fertilizer Association, in Albany last week to contact local farm leaders, declared that "farmers must make the most use of information now available to bring about more yield per acre."

He said the number of food producers has declined from about 70 percent of the total population in 1840 to approximately 12 percent in 1949.

"We can't afford to allow inefficiency in farm operation," Coleman said. "We have expanded to the limit horizontally, and we must now expand vertically—utilize every acre to the limit of its capacity."

Concerning the fertilizer industry, Coleman declared that "with the possibility of 300,000,000 people living in the United States in 50 years, we are faced with the necessity of greater yields per acre. Experiments with radioactive phosphorus will enable us to make great strides in finding why plants need certain nutrients by being able to trace the absorption."

Sells Farm

LOUISVILLE—F. A. Darracott, who has been engaged in stock and dairy farming near here on the Louisville-Waynesboro Road, announces the sale of his farm and stock and other items, to W. H. Newberry, of Macon, who will operate the 400-acre farm. Darracott and family will move to Johnston, S. C., he says.
